PLANS CAMPAIGN.

BOER COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF PREPARES TO FIGHT.

WAITS DECLARATION OF WAR

WILL THEN BEGIN OFFENSIVE OPERATIONS.

READY WITH 20,000 TROOPS

WILL SWEEP ON THROUGH THE CAPE COLONIES.

London, June 19.—The St. James Gazette this afternoon claims to have received from an absolutely reliable source at Petoria, capital of the Transvaal, the plan of campaign which will be followed by General Joubert, commander-in-chief of the Boers, in the event of war between the Transvaal and Great Britain. General Joubert's force, it appears, will consist of 20,000 men armed with Mauser rifles, in addition to forty-six quick firing guns and 1,000 artillerymen, most of them drawn from the German and Dutch armies. With these troops and help expected from the Orange Free State, Joubert expects to take the offensive immediately after the declaration of war, enter the Orange Free State and march on Kimberly, the British diamond mining center in West Griqualand, which forms four of the seventy divisions of Cape Colony.

Kimberly is about 100 miles northwest of Bloemfontein. In his march on Kimberly Joubert will use the railroad as far as available, expects to capture the town with slight loss and blow up the De Beers diamond mine.

Simultaneously, it is added, the railroad from Cape Town to Bulawayo will be destroyed by Boer sympathizers and agents in Cape Colony, who will also destroy the Port Elizabeth-Pretoria line, south of Bloemfontein, to prevent British troops from using it.

Finally, immediately after Kimberly is captured, General Joubert will advance on Cape Town, the capital of Cape Colony, through the western provinces, where the Dutch predominate, and are expected to join the Boers.

Joubert calculates that he will be master of Cape Town a fortnight after the declaration of war and that he will then be able to dictate terms of peace.

CHICAGO SHOCKED.

Chicago, June 19.—The population of this city is divided into two classes —those who are shocked at a group of statuary containing only nude figures of women that has been placed on the lake front just south of the art institute building, and those who admire it. And both classes, the shocked and the admiring, have been traveling to the lake front by the thousands. The group is clustered about a fountain. The whole scheme was the idea of Lorado Taft, instructor of the modeling class in the art institute, and the figures are the work of the women students. The pupils who made the figures are Evelyn Longman, Clarisse Wilson, Marguerite Wheeler, Edith Parker, Maud Moore, Mrs. Verde Dundas, Alice Cooper, Mary Parker, Edith Freeman and Marie Naughton. The figures in the group were taken to the lake front under cover of darkness Saturday night. Two big wagons were unloading sometime between sunset and dawn, and workmen, under the direction of the instructor and young women, put the figures in place. There are seven figures in all, arranged about the big new fountain. When sunrise came early passers-by halted and stood open-mouthed; for Chicago is not yet so much an art center as to suffer seven such figures to arive unnoticed. Commissioner McGann, of the department of streets, was informed by telephone of the sight as soon as he reached his office, and he at once hurried down to be shocked. He had to force his way through the crowd. Then he went back to his office and wrote sarcastically to Director French, of the art institute, laying down the laws of art and decency as believed in by the street department. Director French received many other messages during the day besides this one from Commissioner McGann, and while some were loud in their praise of Chicago's artistic talent, others urged that there were certain talents which, like one of those entioned in the biblical parable, [illegible] be hid. The two [illegible] city popula- [illegible] be allowed to remain on view undraped.

ANOTHER $500 VERDICT.

In the DeKalb county circuit court Saturday a jury returned a verdict for $500 against the Consolidated Street Railway of Fort Wayne in the damage suit commenced by Jackson Clem, a farmer, whose horses frightened at a car, ran away and upset the wagon, injuring Mr. Clem. S. L. Morris has not read the answers to the interrogatories, but it is probable he may ask for a judgment on the answers. This was the second verdict against the company for $500 in the same court in one week.

A BIG JUDGMENT.

In the superior court this afternoon Judge Hench rendered judgment for $4,731.61 in favor of Benjamin Rothschild vs. Peter Repp et al. Emittus Case, one of the defendants, is also given judgment for $546 against the other defendants.

HORRIBLE TALE FROM ALASKA

HUNGER DRIVES PROSPECTORS TO CANNIBALISM.

Three Men Lose the Trail, Exhaust Food and Two Eat the Third —All Dead.

Circle City, Alaska, May 29.—Via San Francisco, June 19.—A story of possible cannibalism and death on the Yukon trail has just reached here. Three men who left Dahl river on December 5th for Jimtown, were not heard of again and they were supposed to have been lost. Nothing was heard of them here until the steamer Rideout, which arrived today, brought a terrible tale of suffering and horror.

The men were Michael Daly, Victor Ediar and M. Provost. They were from Providence, R. I.; Woonsocket, R. I., and Brocton, Mass., respectively. Their bodies were discovered seventeen miles from the mouth of Old Man's creek, they having lost their trail and become bewildered. Having left Dahl river with only three weeks' food, but which was amply sufficient for the 150 miles to Jimtown, they were soon reduced to starvation.

Daly's body was found partly eaten on the stove in the tent, just as it was left when death overtook the others. Some scraps of moose hide and moccasin were found, of which they were endeavoring to make a stew.

Daly's body was identified by the clothes. The other two men were found dead five miles away from the tent. The fact of the tent flaps being shut down when found would seem to preclude the possibility of Daly's body having been eaten by animals. The other men doubtless were driven by hunger to the awful extremity of cannibalism. Four hundred dollars were found on the bodies.

The seven boats which wintered at Dahl river are all safe. They are the St. Michael, Reindeer, Monarch, Evans, Mary Graff, Luem and Rideout.

MAY LIVE OUT CENTURY.

Rome, June 19.—Prof. Mazzoni is of the opinion that the pope will live out the century, barring accidents. He visited the pope last week to examine the scar caused by the removal of the tumor from the pope's hip and found his general health considerably improved since the removal of the bandages three weeks ago. The pope asked Mazzoni how long he thought he would live, and the surgeon answered: "I believe your holiness will see the new century."

BURNED BY EXPLOSION.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 19.—By the explosion of a lamp in the house of Michael Jaska, on Voeghtly street, Allegheny, six members of the family were badly burned. The explosion set fire to the house, but the flames were extinguished with slight damage. The victims, which included the father, mother and four children, were removed to the hospital. All will recover but an eighteen-month-old baby, whose injuries are believed to be fatal.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

CANADA IS MULISH

WILL NOT YIELD ON ALASKA BOUNDARY.

BRITAIN IS GIVEN CHOICE

BETWEEN NORTHERN DOMINION AND UNITED STATES.

A STORY FROM WASHINGTON

THAT LONDON FOREIGN OFFICE DENIES.

New York, June 19.—A special to the Journal and Advertiser from Washington says:

Canada has served notice on England that she must choose between the United States and her North American dominion in the settlement of the Alaskan boundary question.

It is stated on the highest authority that this statement represents accurately the conditions submitted to England, which has delayed the negotiations between Ambassador Choate and Lord Salisbury on the provisional line of the modus vivendi.

This position of Canada is known here officially. The official to whom it is known feels authorized, too, in saying that there are only two ways out of the difficulty, first, that Canada will voluntarily recede from her demands for a Pacific tidewater port; or, second, that the United States shall surrender the priciple laid down by Secretary Hay in his tentative boundary line, that America will not grant temporarily or otherwise any port facilities to the Canadians.

That Canada will yield is considered by state department officials who have discussed the new and acute phases of the situation as improbable.

It is asserted on authority that England has been forced to yield to Canada and that the United States and England are wider apart today in the controversy than at any time since the adjournment of the high joint commission.

The present situation, in the light of this important news, is that the conflict which the provisional boundary line was intended to prevent may be precipitated at any moment and with greater show of probability when it becomes known that England has decided to stand irrevocably behind Canada.

DECLARE STORY WRONG.

London, June 19.—The officials of the colonial office today were shown the dispatch from Washington saying that Canada had served notice on Great Britain that she must choose between the United States and her North American dominion in the settlement of the boundary dispute.

They declared that the story is wrong both in substance and fact and that it can be further reaffirmed that a modus vivendi was reached early last week, as cabled to the Associated Press at the time. The arrangement, which is a verbal one, deals with the question on broad lines. One or two minor details are still under discussion and when they are settled a final arrangement will be drawn up.

Generally speaking, it may be said that the boundary agreed upon follows the summits of the White and Chilcoot Passes.

TOD SLOAN IN DISFAVOR.

London, June 19.—The afternoon papers today are insisting that Tod Sloan, the American jockey, in spite of his denials, is the man who assaulted the waiter at Ascot on Thursday. The Evening News is indignant at the fact that the jockey club has apparently decided to let the matter drop and is stirring up public feeling against him. The paper says: "The English jockeys, by their behavior and general bearing, have succeeded during the last twenty years in totally altering their social status, and it is hard lines on them that a foreigner should come to England and bring disgrace on the profession without any official notice being taken of it. The next time Sloan appears on a race course he will learn what the public think of him. The fact that he denies what fifty people witnessed may display American bravado, but in no other way will it better his position." The Star publishes several abusive letters calling Sloan "an American stable boy" and "a Lilliputian Yankee." The same paper asserts that after careful investigation "it was shown [illegible] Sloan and no [illegible] bottle, completely opening his lip, so that a large portion of it hung over his mouth." The waiter is still under the care of a doctor.

CHOSE A PASTOR.

The congregation of Zion's Lutheran church met yesterday afternoon to select a new pastor to succeed Rev. Juengel, who retires this fall. There were twelve ministers mentioned for the place, but the candidates finally narrowed down to three, and of these Rev. A. C. Kaumeyer, of Lancaster, Ohio, was the choice, receiving 86 out of 114 votes. The formal call will be extended in four weeks and it is understood that Rev. Kaumeyer will accept. He is said to be a very able minister, with progressive ideas and preaches in both English and German. He is thirty-eight years of age.

PAYMENT NOT A PREFERENCE.

REFEREE CHAPIN RULES ON TRUSTEE'S PETITION.

Schell Directors Did Not Violate Bankruptcy Act in Paying Hamilton National Bank.

A short time ago Trustee Keegan, in charge of the affairs of the Schell Loan and Investment company, filed with Referee Chapin a petition setting forth that in his opinion the Schell company exercised an undue preference in paying a claim of $16,000 to the Hamilton National bank, of this city, and asking for a ruling on the matter. The case came up before Referee Chapin for hearing Saturday. Trustee Keegan was represented by Vesey & Heaton, while Breen & Morris appeared for the bank.

After hearing the arguments and considering the case carefully the referee entered an order to the effect that he is of opinion that "the facts therein alleged fail to show an indebtedness or liability of the said bankrupt corporation to said bank. The bank discounted and held the individual notes of the directors, but no obligation was executed by the said bankrupt company to the bank. The money procured from the Colonial bank was obtained by the directors upon their personal note, and it was not a violation of the bankrupt act for them, while giving the bankrupt corporation the benefit of money so acquired to require that so much as was necessary should be used in payment of the $16,000 note secured by mortgage upon their property.

"Such seems to be the fair inference from the facts stated, and the referee is of the opinion that unless other controlling facts exist, there are not sufficient grounds for the trustee to attempt a collection of the Hamilton National bank, and he declines to instruct the trustee to take steps to that end."

CONTRACT AWARDED.

The board of works met in special session Saturday evening and awarded the contract for the Lewis street pavement to S. B. Fleming, who had bid $4.85 per lineal foot for that part of the street from Lafayette to Winter and $3.92½ per lineal foot from Winter to Walton avenue. There were a score or more Lewis street property owners present and G. W. McKee, F. J. Hayden and Otto Herbst took a leading part in the discussion. Some of the property owners were afraid the street railway company would not make the street between the tracks conform to the balance of the street and under such circumstances were opposed to any pavement. The board explained that the street railway company had agreed to make the improvement and if they did not do it promised to see that the company at least obeyed the requirements of the franchise and placed six inches of stone and two of sand under the brick used between the tracks. A telegram received from Mr. Fleming stated that he would be in Fort Wayne and sign a contract today. He has agreed to use Metropolitan brick, having secured a reduction in price.

MADE A BIG HAUL

MASKED ROBBERS GET $4,000 IN PHILADELPHIA.

LOOTED STREET CAR OFFICE

TEN ARMED MEN ENGAGED IN THE RAID.

THE EMPLOYES WERE BOUND

SAFE CRACKED AFTER TWO HOURS' WORK.

Philadelphia, June 19.—A gang of masked robbers, probably ten in number, early this morning raided the receiving office of the Fairmont Park Transportation company, at Belmont, in Fairmont Park, and after holding up the receiver and five other employes of the railway, blew open the safe, securing $4,000, the company's receipts for two days.

Frank Levan, receiver; Frank Watson and Henry B. Whitehouse, conductors; James Cavanaugh, fireman of the power house; Philip Eaves, electrician, and W. Cadmus, laborer, were bound hand and foot with wire. In addition to the men who actually committed the robbery, others operated miles away from the scene by destroying electric and telephone wires connected with the trolley company's main office. The Fairmont Park Transportation company operates various lines of trolley cars through the park for pleasure riders. The traffic being unusually heavy on Saturdays and Sundays, the robbers evidently decided upon this morning as being a good time to make a big haul. The men above named were all in the office when the burglars made their appearance. Each intruder was armed with two revolvers and, they took the employes completely by surprise.

It was the work of a few moments for the robbers to pinion the workmen, who were rolled over to one side of the room, with their faces to the wall.

After nearly two hours' work the safe was rifled of it scontents and the gang disappeared.

The entire detective force is on the case, but the cracksmen left no clew.

Peter Duffert and Charles Smith, who say they live in Newark, N. J., and Albert Leeds, of Philadelphia, were arrested in Fairmount park on suspicion of being connected with the robbery.

It was a dangerous feat, but Miller clung to the animal's nostrils until it stopped, when a slip of his hold would have thrown him beneath the animal's feet. The buggy and harness were considerably wrecked, but no one was injured.

ESCAPE OF STEPHEN SCOTT.

JUMPED FROM THE WINDOW OF A MOVING TRAIN.

A Thorough Search Failed to Locate the Young Criminal—A Good Riddance.

Stephen Scott, the young fellow arrested some weeks ago for an alleged criminal assault and who last week was sentenced to the reform school at Plainfield, escaped from his guard yesterday while en route to the reformatory.

He was in charge of "Doc" Nebro, a West Main street barber, who was going down on the excursion to Indianapolis, intending to visit Plainfield and if possible secure the release of his young brother-in-law, who is confined there. Sheriff Melching accepted this opportunity to send Scott to the reformatory and he was placed in charge of Nebro. Scott's hands were fastened together with handcuffs. When within a few miles of Noblesville Scott was taken to the train closet by Nebro, who after some persuasion released one hand from the iron cuffs but held to the loosened cuff himself. The train swung around a curve and as it did so the loosened cuff was jerked from Nebro's hand, the closet door banged to and in an instant Scott must have turned the lock as Nebro could not open the door. The brakeman was close by and his key would not unfasten the door and the train sped on to Noblesville. Before arriving there it was known that Scott had jumped from the train, and when the stop was made a peek into the window from the outside found the closet empty. Nebro immediately notified the Hamilton county sheriff of Scott's escape and telephone and telegraphic messages were sent to Cicero and Fort Wayne. Deputies mounted wheels and a visit was made to the place, four miles from Noblesville, where Scott jumped from the train window. He was nowhere to be found and the only person who saw him was a small boy who witnessed Scott's desperate jump. He fell to the ground with considerable force and lay there for a few seconds as if stunned. The lad started toward Scott, who jumped up and started for the woods on a run with the handcuff dangling from one hand. Every nook and corner for miles around were searched but Scott was not found, and it is believed he has made his escape and will soon be in with a gang of tramps who will saw the handcuffs off.

Mr. Nebro regrets exceedingly the escape of the young criminal, but asserts that circumstances were altogether against him and he has no doubt that Scott had been figuring on getting away from him. After the train left Tipton Scott's actions took a sudden change and Nebro informed him that he intended to take no chances, but as soon as Indianapolis was reached an officer would be called to assist in locking him in jail. It was a few minutes after this that Scott made his daring leap.

Sheriff Melching will keep up the hunt for the escaped lad, but will not care much if he is never found. The sheriff says:

"It is a good riddance for the county. Any person who will take the chances Scott did will not hesitate to shoot an officer and ultimately will make a desperate criminal. If he never returns here Allen county will be that much better off. I do not believe Scott told the truth when he said he was only sixteen. He is at least eighteen." The Hamilton county officers are keeping up the hunt, but nothing was heard from them today.

A FIERCE FIGHT.

WHEATON'S MEN ATTACKED BY SUPPOSED FRIENDLIES.

ASSAULTED FROM THE REAR

BATTLE RAGED HOTLY FOR SEVERAL HOURS.

ENEMY SUFFERS SLAUGHTER

FIVE AMERICANS KILLED IN THE FIGHTING.

Manila, June 19.—8:20 p. m.—A battalion of the Fourteenth infantry, which left Imus, where General Wheaton is in command, this morning, to reconnoitre towards Peres Las Marinas, where it was believed most of the rebels who had escaped from Paranaque and Bacoor had fled, was attacked in the rear by apparently friendly natives. This brought on a sharp engagement, lasting several hours, resulting in five Americans being killed and about twenty-five being wounded. The loss of the rebels was very heavy.

The battalion soon exhausted its ammunition and at 2:30 this afternoon General Wheaton and his staff, with the Second battalion, two mountain guns and one field piece, went to reinforce the troops attacked.

General Wheaton was fired on in a road and had a narrow escape.

Later, the third battalion was ordered to the front and formed on the Las Marinas road. Heavy firing on both sides followed, the artillery being freely used.

The enemy was located in the woods at 4 o'clock, showing signs of retiring, as the rebels were being pressed very hard. One gun of the Sixth artillery, in an advanced position, did great execution.

The fighting was still in progress at 5 o'clock, at which time the Americans had secured a quantity of Filipino arms which had been abandoned in the woods.

The scene of the fight is over twenty miles from Manila.

REGIMENT TENDERED.

Washington, June 19.—A telegram was received at the war department today signed by United States Senators Perkins and White, of California, as follows:

"Southern California supports administration in its efforts to suppress the Philippine insurrection and tenders the president for immediate service well organized and thoroughly disciplined regiment of infantry. Officers and men ready to embark as soon as necessary field equipments can be furnished."

It is stated at the war department that no action can be taken in the matter of the California regiment offered by Senators Perkins and White. The question of calling for volunteers has not been determined; besides it is not intended to organize state troops if volunteers are called for.

BROKE ALL RECORDS.

The 500 mile pigeon race which was held yesterday from Springfield, Mo., to this city, was one which broke all records for pigeon flying which have been made west of Philadelphia in the past several years. There were fifteen birds in the race belonging to Dr. Schilling and eight belonging to Henry Beach. The birds were released at 5 a. m. at Springfield, and four birds belonging to Dr. Schilling covered the 500 miles in a little more than thirten hours, arriving here at 6:18 p. m. The birds were not expected until this morning and the time made was a revelation to the members of the club. This time breaks the record held by Cleveland birds for many years.

Tim Flood threw away a chance to tie the game in the ninth inning yesterday afternoon, when he attempted to score from third base while Manager Truby had the ball in his hand at second base. A little toss, the ball was in Latimer's hands and Flood was easily touched out. There was only one man out and had Flood remained on third, as he should, a long fly by Miller would have scored him and given Jack Glasscock, who had been batting effectively, an opportunity to bring in Letcher, who was perched on first, and there might have been a different story to tell. Fort Wayne "fans" love the game and are loyal to the team, but the poor head work of some of the players recently has been enough to test the loyalty of any "fan." Every one of the last three games lost on the home grounds should have been victories, but instead they are marked up on the losing side of the percentage column.

Kelb and McFarland were opposing twirlers and each was batted hard. In the fifth McFarland hit a hard one past Kelb, who reached up to stop the sphere and the fingernail on his pitching hand was torn almost off and he was compelled to retire in favor of Guese, who was batted effectively when hits meant runs.

The game was close and exciting, first one team and then the other taking the lead. The credit for the victory, as far as run-scoring goes, belongs to McFarland, who made a home run in the seventh and then in the eighth with the score a tie duplicated the performance while there was a runner on base. In the ninth Guese singled and Flood and Belden walked, filling the bases with none out. Letcher hit a hot one to short and Belden was forced at second, Guese scoring. Here is where Flood made his foolish attempt to score and Truby easily caught him at the plate. With Ltecher on first base Norcum, who umpired, called Miller out on strikes and the game was ended. BATTING AVERAGES.

As the season grows older the heavy hitters on the Fort Wayne team are slowly falling off in their batting until now there are only three players with a batting average as good as .300. Glasscock still stays in front, although his average is many points less than it was a week ago. Kuehne, Flood and Reiman are below .300, while big Tom Letcher has improved wonderfully and has finally reached the .300 mark. At his present clip he should soon be leading the team. Following are the averages including Sunday's game with Youngstown:

	G.	A.B.	H.	Pct.
Glasscock	48	188	58	.309
Miller	31	122	37	.303
Letcher	48	203	61	.300

CHANGES IN SCHEDULE.

The folowing changes have been made in the schedule of the Inter-State base ball league, as announced by President C. B. Power: New Castle at Mansfield, June 22, 23, 24, instead of June 26, 27, 28; Youngstown at Mansfield, June 19, 20 21, instead of June 29, 30, July 1; Mansfield at New Castle, June 26, 27, 28, instead of June 22, 23, 24; Mansfield at Youngstown, June 29, 30, July 1, instead of June 19, 20, 21. The changes were made on account of the races at Mansfield. The game sceduled between Fort Wayne and Youngstown at Fort Wayne was played yesterday. The game scheduled between Wheeling and Dayton at Dayton July 18 was played June 4. The game between Dayton and Grand Rapids scheduled for August 10 was played yesterday. The game between Dayton and Grand Rapids scheduled for August 12 will be played September 10.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Guese could not keep from getting "in the hole" on McFarland. With three balls on the sandy twirler Guese would put one over the plate and the result was two home runs.

Bob Gilkes and the balance of the Toledo ex-champions arrived in Fort Wayne at 10 o'clock this morning and are playing their first game of the season in this city. They will play three games here, but the Hoosiers cannot head them off even should they win all the games.

Letcher and McFarland did some great batting. Each was credited with four hits. McFarland made two home runs and two singles and Letcher almost tied him with a home run, a two-bagger and two singles. Glasscock and Truby were also in the batting with three hits each.

"Chic" Stahl ranks seventh in batting in the National league with an average of .376. He has made 71 hits, 41 runs, stole 3 bases and made 8 sacrifice hits. Delehanty, Lajoie, Hamilton and McGraw have batted over .400. Then come Keeler and Tenney ahead of Stahl. McGraw leads the base runners and Dexter has the most sacrifice hits.

Scores Saturday: Inter-State—Youngstown 9, Dayton 2; Toledo 7, New Castle 3; Mansfield 7. Grand Rapids 1. National St. Louis 7, Louisville 0; Pittsburg 6, Cleveland Chicago 12, Cincinnati 1; Philadelphia 6, Boston 4. Western—Columbus 9, Buffalo 8; St. Paul 8, Milwaukee 7; Detroit 11, Indianapolis 5; Kansas City 11, Minneapolis 8.

In the seventh Van Buren made a wonderful catch off Hollingsworth. The Fort Wayne short stop hit a short fly over Berte's head and it seemed impossible for any fielder to get it. Van Buren sprinted like wild and reached down just as the ball was about to hit the ground, got the sphere in one hand and held it, although he could not stop running until he had run twenty feet farther.

SWINNEY PARK IS IN DEMAND.

MOST POPULAR RESORT FOR PICNICS AND OUTINGS.

Engaged for July 4, 1900, and an Application Filed for July 4, 1901.

Without question Swinney park is the most popular resort in and about Fort Wayne for family outings, church and society picnics, etc. Every evening families go to the park and enjoy the refreshing breezes and cold water that spurts from the flowing well. Churches, societies, etc., make application almost weekly for the use of the park for picnics. The biggest picnic of the summer will probably be held on July 4, under the auspices of Emanuel's Lutheran church. The City band, with twenty-two pieces, has been engaged to furnish the music. So great is the demand for the park on holidays that the board of works has already granted to St. John's Lutheran church the privilege to hold a picnic there on the Fourth of July, 1900. The Salem Reformed church tried to get the park for the Fourth and failing have submitted a request to the board that they be now granted permission to picnic there on the Fourth of July, 1901, more than two years from now. The application will be acted upon by the board at its regular meeting this afternoon.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, June 19.—A break of over a cent marked the opening trading in wheat today, September starting at from 77⅝c to 77¾c, compared with Saturday's closing price of 78⅞c.

The market a moment or two after the opening recovered to 78c, but a good deal of stop loss selling and general liquidation was started by the early break, and the price soon after again declined to 77¾c.

The principal factor was a break of 1⅛d at Liverpool. Some rain was reported in parts of Russia. Domestic news was bearish. Northwest receipts were heavy, Minneapolis and Duluth reporting 546 cars, against 976 last week and 87 a year ago.

Chicago receipts were 87 cars, seven of contract grade.

World's shipments amounted to 7,639,000 bushels. The market received considerable support on the decline, local traders being inclined to play for a rally, and September gradually reacted to 78⅝c.

Corn was weak and lower at the opening on large receipts, 971 cars, fine weather west and ⅜d decline at Liverpool. There was a rush of selling by receivers and scalpers, but after this was disposed of the market became steadier and again reacted somewhat.

September opened at 34½@34¾c, against Saturday's closing price of 34⅞c, and advanced to 34⅞@35c.

Oats were fairly active and lower with wheat and liberal receipts.

Receivers sold against country acceptances. Receipts were 246 cars.

September opened ½c lower at 22@22½c, and sold between 21⅞c and 22⅛@22¼c, becoming steady at 22½c.

Provisions were very dull. Hog prices were lower and pork and lard were slightly affected, commission houses selling moderately.

The demand was mainly for shorts.

September pork opened 2½c lower at $8.37½; September lard opened 2½@5c lower at $5.10@5.12½ and held at $5.12½; September ribs unchanged at $4.82½.

Butterflies.

Every one has seen the little yellow butterflies that settle down in swarms upon the country roads in the summer time, but very few of our little friends know in what great families they travel nor what great distances they go. Flocks of them have been seen fluttering overhead, all going in the same direction, that covered 16 miles and took three days in passing, and they have been seen far out at sea, where they fairly cover the decks and rigging of the ships.

Citing an Exception.

Meeks—But what's the use of arguing the matter? One can't get more out of a bottle than he puts in it. Weeks—Oh, I don't know; I put a quart of liquor in a bottle once and got a big head and a $10 fine out of it the next morning.

CARRIED OUT ORDERS.

But Perhaps Obeyed Her Mistress a Little Too Literally.

Mrs. Smith, who lives on Calumet avenue, sent a domestic out the other day with a tailor made suit that she wanted cleaned and pressed.

"Now, Bridget," said she, "these cleaners are sometimes very careless if they think one will put up with poor work. You take this over to —— Cottage Grove avenue, and be sure to impress it upon the old fellow that I want the work well done."

Bridget came back in the course of half an hour, evidently well pleased with herself.

"Sure, mum," she explained, "Oi'll warrunt yer dress is irruned to perfection. Oi tould 'im, sez Oi, the woman yez be goin to worruk for is the divil. She's the particularest craythur yez iver had dailins wid, bein that homely she knows her dresses has got to be disthracktingly good lookin. Oi fixed him fer yez, mum, an niver tould no lies, neither."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Pre-empted.

"Found!" cried the explorer, as the north pole hove in sight. "I annex this district in the name of my gracious sovereign."

"Too late," murmured a native laconically. "All this district is under the control of the ice trust."

In 2000.

Son (reading ancient literature)—Papa, what does this expression, "Money makes the mare go," mean?

Father—In ancient times "money" was a powerful drug which, when applied to an individual, greatly stimulated him while it soothed his conscience. It frequently caused him to draw others out of difficulties. The "mare," I understand, was a primitive form of the autocarriage of today, which was used in the drawing process. The entire expression now would be something like this: "A powerful stimulant presses the autolever and turns on the current."—Cleveland Leader.

Landsdale and Korea's King.

Some years ago Lieutenant Landsdale, who was killed at Samoa, visited Korea on one of the American cruisers. He had a bicycle with him, and when Chemulpo was reached went ashore for a ride. It was the first bicycle the ignorant and superstitious coolies had seen, and they fled at the first sight of the strange man gliding along on it. The king heard of the wonderful machine, and Lansdale received a polite summons to come to Seoul and bring his wheel. He did so, and taught the king to ride. The latter at once ordered a royal collection of wheels, and he and Lansdale took many rides together. They grew to be excellent friends, and the young officer was always a welcome guest at the court. The friendship endured to the end of the life of the officer.

Many a man will spend five times the amount in a day for drinks and cigars who thinks 30 cents for new asparagus an extravagance.

It Isn't a Pleasure

To us to extract a tooth—but, when the operation becomes necessary, we are at least able to say emphatically that we can render it painless to our patients. It isn't a pleasure, because every tooth that must finally be extracted might have been saved if prompt action had been taken, and marks a loss that we know to be in a measure irreparable. That's why we would rather save teeth that can be saved but administer vitalized air as the best of painsaving means of extracting teeth that are useless.

It was extinguished with considerable difficulty by the park watchman, assisted by several men who were in the park at the time.

At the Third Presbyterian church Children's day exercises were held from 10:30 to 12 o'clock. The program consisted of musical numbers and recitations and an excellent address was given by the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. McGaw. Other addresses were made by prominent members of the congregation. A special collection was taken up and the proceeds will be turned over to the Sabbath school board to be used to carry on the mission work.

Children's day exercises were held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church. An excellent program consisting of recitations, addresses and musical numbers was rendered. The feature of the day was the graduation of several members of the infant class, who were promoted to higher classes in the Sunday school. The little ones conducted themselves with the greatest gravity throughout and several of them made creditable addresses.

Shortly after midnight on Friday evening some one broke into the duck house on the little island in Swinney park lake and stole a hen and fourteen young ducks which were domiciled there. A diligent search was made all day Saturday for the missing fowls, with no result however. On Sunday morning William Dierdorf, the day policeman at the park, while walking near the shore of the river saw the birds on the opposite side of the river, and he immediately waded across and recovered them. The thief, who lived in Nebraska, had evidently become frightened and had thrown them into the river to [illegible] detection.

The Bluffton News says: "Mrs. Brooke Sale, who recently moved from this city to Indianapolis, is in one of the Chicago hospitals where, on June 6 she underwent a very severe surgical operation. For several days thereafter she was in a critical condition and fears were entertained that she would not recover from its effects. Later word however, is that she is recovering and will get through nicely." Mrs. Sale will be well remembered by many friends in this city as Miss Lotta Lowry, and they will rejoice to hear that she is being restored to health.

A most unusual accident occurred last evening in Niemann's cigar store at Jefferson and Calhoun streets. Cornell Kelley, who is employed in the Summer's drug store, was standing talking to a friend when some one noticed a smell of cloth burning and at the same time noticed smoke issuing from the pocket of Kelley's coat. The coat was hastily discarded and some water was thrown on it. An investigation revealed the fact that some matches in the pocket had become ignited and had set fire to the coat, which was ruined. Kelley's hand was severely burned in taking t[illegible] off.

Three great international questions disturb the entente between the United States and Great Britain. Canada is making a pretty mess of trouble over the Alaska boundary, Tod Sloan, the American jockey, assaulted a waiter with a champagne bottle, and Dr. James Jeffries is going over to England to put some finishing touches on the long-continued argument that Charley Mitchell is a "has-been."

It is to be hoped that Great Britain will not be compelled to draw the sword to reach a settlement of the Transvaal difficulty, but it looks as though war would ensue. President Kruger will go so far to avert war, but the extent of his concessions will not be great, because the Boers do not greatly fear England. The situation of the Outlanders in the Transvaal is galling and they are entitled to the redress that the British government is disposed to give them even at the cost of war. It will be a bloody war, if it comes, and England will pay dearly for the rights of the Outlanders.

The automobile appears destined to become a factor in civilized life, especially in cities, at a very early day, and some speculation is naturally abroad as to the form which the new vehicle will eventually take. As in the case of the railway train in its early stages of development the automobile is at present very much like its predecessors used with horse power, but it will doubtless be adapted to its own particular use before very long. For one thing it has not yet settled where the seat of the motorman is to be. It is desirable, of course, that the passengers have an unobstructed view of the road, but it is necessary that the motorman should have a view equally clear. If he sits in front of the passengers, like a coachman, he will be in their way; if he sits above them, on the roof, like the driver of a London cab, he will be in an awkward position in case of accident. It has been suggested that his seat might be swung low down near the truck, which would enable him to see any small obstruction which might be in the road. Perhaps this is the plan which will ultimately be adopted. The brains of many clever inventors will probably be at work for the next few years, shaping designs for the automobile of the future, and there is a chance for some bright young fellow to win fame and fortune in this field.

TRUSTS AND TRAVELING MEN.

C. E. Dowe, of New York, president of the Commercial Travellers' National league, read a prepared statement before the industrial commission Saturday, bitterly attacking trusts. Recently he addressed circulars to thousands of commercial travellers asking their views as to trusts, and the replies, with scarcely one exception, were denunciatory. Mr. Dowe said:

"Commercial travellers are against trusts, both from self-interest, naturally to be expected under the conditions as an outgrowth of combinations, and because of the principles involved- the injustice to the people, the menace to democracy, the semblance to plutocracy and the rottenness of the whole movement. From figures supplied me by commercial men I submit the following: That more than 35,000 salesmen have been thrown out of work through the organization of trusts, and about 25,000 reduced in salary, some being retained at a big cut in compensation in house positions, others as travelling agents; 60,000 salesmen directly affected by trusts."

Mr. Dowe estimated that annual expenditures cut off by the direct influence of trusts amounted to $114,000,000, of which $60,000,000 is the loss in salaries and $27,000,000 in railroad tickets and excess baggage. The loss to hotels he placed at $27,000,000. If one-half of all the commercial travellers are dispensed with, as Mr. Dowe thinks likely if the formation of trusts continues, $118,000,000 would not cover the annual salary loss. The loss to the railroads would be $75,000,000—that is to say, about $7,500,000 less than the dividends of all the railroads of the United States for 1898. Mr. Dowe spoke of the effect of trusts in paralyzing individual effort. Continuing, he gave specific instances of the dismissal of salesmen, saying:

"The great tobacco combines threw out about 3,000 men; the Continental Tobacco company telegraphed the discharge of 350 in one day; the baking powder trust has dispensed with all, excepting half a dozen men. The bicycle trust will throw out 600 salesmen and will cut down agencies in every city; the chair trust will eliminate salesmen. The Union Bag and Paper company has thrown out of employment hundreds of salesmen. The number of salesmen out of work because of the United States Rubber company is 300. The American Tin Plate company cut off about 90 out of every 100 salesmen. Sugar and coffee monopolies have thrown out 1,000 salesmen; average reduction in salary of those retained, $1,000 a year, 25 per cent. only of the old force being retained in house positions."

Mr. Dowe said that the trusts had raised the prices of the comodities they controlled from 10 to 100 per cent. in almost every instance except coffee nd sugar. In these they were still fighting for control of the field.

SAID HIS FIRST MASS.

Rev. Thomas Mungovan, who was ordained at Mt. St. Mary's seminary, at Cincinnati, on Friday by Archbishop Elder, of that city, said his first mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday morning. Father Mungovan was assisted by Father Delaney, with Father Durham, of the Cathedral, as deacon, and Edward Mungovan, a theological student and brother of the new priest, as subdeacon. James Fitzpatrick was master of ceremonies and was assisted by James Connolly. Father Delaney preached an excellent sermon, commemorative of the occasion. In the afternoon Father Mungovan celebrated solemn vespers and in the evening was tendered a reception at the home of his sister, Mrs. R. F. Markey, where many of his friends shook hands and wished him success. Father Mungovan received his education in the Cathedral schools in this city and entered St. Vincent's college, at Latrobe, Pa., where he remained five years, and then began a final course at Mt. St. Mary's, in Cincinnati. Father Mungovan will be attached to the Fort Wayne diocese.

CHARLEY MITCHE'S JOKE.

New York, June 19.—Jim Jeffries has received a challenge from Charley Mitchel. The English pugilist sent a cable to Tom Childers, of the Hoffman house, authorizing him to arrange a match with Jeffries to take place in London this summer. Jeffries said last night that he would accept the challenge and would fight Mitchel two weeks after his arrival in England. He is willing to fight Mitchel ten rounds or to a finish before the club offering the largest purse. The only condition that Jeffries said he would make in the articles is that an American shall referree the contest. Childers says that the National Sporting club of London will make a bid for the fight. The champion expects to sail for England July 27th.

BUSINESS MEN TO MEET.

A proposition is on foot to revive the Fort Wayne Business Men's exchange and a meeting will be held at the city hall Tuesday evening with that purpose in view. All will readily realize the value of such an organization in locating new enterprises in the city and otherwise advancing the commercial interests of Fort Wayne, and within the past few days John B. Monning has visited a large number of merchants and manufacturers to solicit their aid in bringing about the revival of the organization. Practically every concern of prominence, together with many of the leading capitalists, business and professional men have signified their willingness to aid the project, and it is hoped the meeting on Tuesday evening will be largely attended.

TRAIN WRECKERS TAKEN.

Salt Lake, Utah, June 19.—A special to the Tribune from Monida, Mont., says: Near Dwells, Wyo., just south of the Yellowstone Park, the park scouts captured early today the three men supposed to be the Union Pacific train robbers. The men were surrounded by the scouts just before daybreak. The men are now being taken across the country to the Mammoth Hot Springs. This news was brought to Monida by the driver of the Monida and Yellowstone Park stage. The names of the men are not known. They were captured without the firing of a gun.

NORTHERN INDIANA NOTES.

Six cases of small pox are reported at Shipshewanna, a small town in northwestern LaGrange county, and the place has been put under a stringent quarantine.

The recent graduating class at North Manchester made their bow before the public attired in sweet simplicity of white shirt waists and duck skirts. This was done in compliance with a request made by the school board in order to avoid undue expense and extravagance.

The bodies of George Laurie and wife, who were trampled to death by an angry bull near Huntington, were buried together Sunday. The double funeral was largely attended.

The seven-year-old daughter of Henry Clay, of Wabash county, was fatally injured by a vicious horse.

It is said that evidence has come to light that Johnson Nelson Smith, a tramp who was sent to the state reformatory for twenty-one years on a charge of criminal assault on little Lizzie Stoffer, at Huntington, did not commit any assault. The girl's father and another man apprehended Smith and beat him in a terrible manner before turning him over to the officers.

The big bank barn and several outbuildings at the Wells county infirmary burned Saturday, causing a heavy loss. Farm implements and animals were saved, but a considerable store of grain was burned. Hard work was experienced saving the infirmary building itself, as a high wind swept the flames dangerously close to it. There was $4,000 insurance, which covers only a small part of the loss.

George Huff, at Portland, has given a public exhibition of his new light for which he has applied for a patent. It is in the nature of a gas and burns with intense brilliancy, a jet of flame the size of a silver half dollar giving out a fifty candle power light. He claims that it is made of water and the secret lies in the apparatus for generating it. He claims to be able to furnish heat and light for an ordinary dwelling at an expense of two cents a day.

V. T. Sweeney, state commissioner of fish and game, will meet with the property owners at Lake Wawasee in the near future for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of establishing a hatchery at that place. Every effort is being made to secure the hatchery and the property owners are very much interested in it. Mr. Sweeney will confer with them about July 1st. The Syracuse Register says Winona people are also after the hatchery, but the commissioner favors Wawasee.

A REMARKABLE RECORD.

Next September will mark the completion of the twentieth year of Principal C. T. Lane's connection with the Fort Wayne schools and his fellow teachers in the high school last Friday gave Mr. Lane a most fitting testimonial of their esteem for him and a recognition of his ability as an instructor. On reaching his home Mr. Lane found a handsome easy chair awaiting him, the gift of the teachers. His lengthy period of service in Fort Wayne has been remarkably successful and it is needless to say he values the gift highly.

THE HOUSEHOLD

How to Clean Silver.

Instead of rubbing with prepared chalk for hours, the silver service may be cleaned in a few minutes quite as effectively. After each meal the silver should be put in a small dishpan, kept for the purpose, and covered with luke warm water, to which a tablespoonful of powdered borax has been added, then taken out immediately and rubbed on a soft cloth, and each piece rubbed with a piece of chamois skin. The borax removes the tarnish quickly. Some prefer leaving the water as hot as your hands can bear it, and rub the silver quickly while the water is hot, and put away out of the light. Newspapers are excellent for shining up silver, even better than the chamois skin.—Economist.

Baked Ham.

To bake ham, first soak it whole in water over night. Then rinse, scrape and place it in water over the fire. Having allowed it to boil gently two hours, remove it from the water and take off the skin. This done, place the ham in a large dripping pan and bake it in a very moderate oven for three hours, basting it frequently. Use for the basting a generous cupful of vinegar in which a tablespoonful of brown sugar has been dissolved. Pour this over the ham in quantities of a few teaspoonfuls at a time, and when it is all consumed, baste with the drippings from the pan. Hams cooked in this way are always tender and of most excellent flavor.

Care of the Stove.

If a little kerosene is used to mix with the blacking used to polish stoves before putting them away for the summer, it will prevent rust. The isinglass should also be wiped clean with vinegar, then polished, the stove pipes carefully emptied, brushed free from all soot and the joints numbered, so that in putting them together again in the fall there need be no cause for profanity from the one appointed to "set up the stove." The stove shaker and poker should also be wrapped in paper and laid inside the stove, and then newspapers laid over the stove to protect it from dust.

Fish Balls

Ingredients, boiled potatoes; freshened, slowly boiled, "salt, dry fish;" pork gravy in sufficient proportions for hash. Peel potatoes while hot, mash and mix with the finely shredded fish and moisten with the pork, which has been cut into fine bits and tried out slowly, crisping the slices. Season to taste, adding a boiled, chopped onion if that flavoring is liked. Mold into balls and let it stand till next day, when brown in moderate oven. Half a cup rich, sweet cream is an improvement, mixed when mashing the potatoes.

To Can Tomatoes.

When the tomatoes are ready to fill into jars, throw in as much salt as would be necessary to season fresh tomatoes for the table; if you wish to eat them with sugar, the salt improves them. Glass jars should be kept in a dark place; if you have no cellar a dark closet will do equally well. To prevent freezing put a heavy comfort over jars; when very cold put some live coals in an iron vessel and set in closet, placing a rock under to prevent burning floor.

Chicken Pie.

Season with salt and boil your chicken until it is tender. Butter a pan and line the sides with good light biscuit dough; put in a layer of chicken; cut dough in 2-inch squares and put in a layer of pepper and bits of butter; again a layer of chicken, then dough, butter and pepper and so on. Pour in the broth and put on strips, leaving room for the gravy to bubble through. Bake a rich brown, and just before you take out of the stove, stir half spoonful of flour in a cup of cream and pour in.

To Clean White Veils.

White veils may be nicely cleaned by soaking for half an hour in a solution of ivory or castile soap. Then press between the hands until clean. Rinse in clear water. Make a cupful of very weak starch or gumarabic water, soak the veil in it a few moments, then clap in the hands until nearly dry. Spread a towel over a pillow and pin the lace in each point smoothly over it, letting it remain until perfectly dry.

Sure to Keep Off Mold.

When jelly, preserves, marmalade or any kind of fruit butter is cool and ready to be put away, cut a piece of tissue paper a fraction larger than the vessel and press down smoothly over the contents and against the sides of the vessel. Tie a paper over it and you will never be troubled with mold or the contents drying away.

HOOSIER LANDMARK GONE.

Porter County's Primitive Temple of Justice Torn Down.

The demise of Hoosierdom's oldest and most unique public building, Porter County's first temple of justice, took place in the business center of Valparaiso in broad daylight not long ago.

The history clustered about this embryonic legal sanctuary of the pioneer world of Northern Indiana reads like a fairy tale. The first session of the Circuit Court ever held in Porter County commenced the first week in October, 1836, at the home of John Saylor, just across the street from the present courthouse. Judge Samuel C. Sample seated himself with great dignity behind a little table, on which were placed a few law books, and in the presence of about forty men declared court to be in session. The grand jury strolled out of the stuffy courtroom and was obliged to hold its deliberations under a large oak tree in the wood close by. The members were seated on the ground, and a log fire was built to impart warmth and cheer to the dismal session. Not one of those that made up the first grand and petit juries is now living. The outdoor sessions were a necessity for some time, but soon public sentiment began to change. The people wanted more commodious quarters in which to hold their sessions, and in 1837 a subscription paper was circulated to raise the funds necessary for building a court house, and the munificent sum reached $1,250.

A frame building, 22x30 feet, was erected on the west side of the present

public square, with only a single room It was completed in the fall. In this building John Pelton, the only man ever sentenced to death in Porter County, was tried and convicted of murdering Francis Stanes, and was hanged in 1838 from a tree on the site of the Valparaiso high school building. Pelton's was the first legal execution of record in Northern Indiana.

The old frame court house building was the pride of the whole northwest corner of Indiana until 1853, when it was succeeded by an old-fashioned brick building, sold for a small sum and removed to the west side of the city, where it stood for years obscured by the thick woods and underbrush It was then moved back to within a few feet from where it was originally erected, being used as a woodshed and storage-room.

ORATOR, SCHOLAR, STATESMEN

Spain Lost Greatest of Her Men in Emilio Castelar's Death.

The death of Emilio Castelar has removed a man who outranked all his contemporaries in the public life of Spain, and who besides enjoyed international reputation as a writer, an orator and a statesman. He was a man of wide culture and attainments. Through a stormy career he maintained his personal honor unsullied, and though actively engaged in politics he disdained the artifices of the practical politician.

EMILIO CASTELAR.

Castelar was born in Cadiz in 1832, and at an early age lost his father. He had a hard struggle to obtain an education, but by the aid of his pen succeeded. The revolution of 1854 was the starting point of his political career. He made a speech at a public meeting in support of democracy, and the next morning he was famous. He allied himself with the then democratic paper, El Tribuno, and each day saw his popularity grow. In 1866 he took part in an uprising against the crown and was condemned to death. He fled to Paris, where he remained two years, returning to Spain to be recognized as the chief of the Republican party.

After Amadeus, who was elected King by the Cortes on the expulsion of Isabella, resigned, Castelar took the rolle of the foreign office in the Cabinet of the newly formed republic. Later, in 1874, Castelar became President of the republic, with almost dictatorial powers. While in this position he did good service for the state. He was unable, however, to maintain himself in power, and the republic fell. Alfonso XIII. was then proclaimed King, and since then Spain has been a monarchy.

Of late years Castelar had not taken a very active part in politics, though he was a member of the Cortes subsequent to the time when he was President of the republic. He ultimately became convinced that a monarchy was the best form of government for Spain.

SURE DEATH TO TICKS

GOVERNMENT HAS ESTABLISHED BATHS FOR CATTLE.

By the Use of Medicated Dips Each Animal Is Given a Clean Bill of Health—Will Greatly Benefit Southern Stock Raisers.

The new government regulations concerning the shipment of Southern cattle have now been in effect long enough to relieve the Southern stock raiser and Northern buyer of many difficulties previously prevailing. The government seeks to preserve Northern cattle from Texas fever, to which Southern cattle are subject. The fever is transmitted from beast to beast by means of ticks. In midwinter there is no danger of infection in the North because frost, which is fatal to the fever tick, protects uninfected cattle. With the new regulations there is a boon in the shape of a special treatment for ticky cattle, which provides all the immunity given by frost as a cleaning agent. All infected or suspected cattle must be dipped in a medicated bath, and the dip serves to give each particular bull, cow, calf or steer a clean bill of health. Consequently the cattle industry of the South has received a helping hand that will be appreciated in that and other sections of the country. There are at present only three authorized dipping stations. They are Fort Worth, Texas; Mammoth Springs, Ark., and East St. Louis, Ill.

The dipping apparatus consists of a tank fifteen feet long, nine feet deep, and so narrow as not to permit a steer to turn around in it. Side walls ten feet above the surface of the ground serve as "splashers," and also more securely confine the animal while it is undergoing treatment. The entire inside of the tank is lined with zinc to keep the contents from leaking out and becoming wasted. The tank is filled nearly full with a dip. This is a concentrated dynamo oil, saturated with flowers of sulphur, the sulphur being about one half of 1 per cent. of the contents of the tank.

The operation of dipping consists in driving the steer into a short alley, or chute, which is then closed behind the animal. The steer is thereby left standing on a hinged platform. This gives way with the animal, which slides with a plunge into the black, oily liquid. The beast is submerged, and walks out by the inclined bottom of the tank, saturated with the mixture. Then that steer is troubled no more with ticks, and may rub up against healthy animals without danger of infecting them. The dip mixture is sure death to fever ticks. The dipped steers are detained in a pen after the bath, where they are allowed to dry. They are inspected by government veterinarians, to see if they have been thoroughly treated, before being passed.

Several States have been working with the above formula, and the board of agriculture of Missouri is so well satisfied that the dipping process entirely eradicates the ticks which cause disease that an amendment was passed in the Legislature of that State authorizing the admission of Texas and Cherokee cattle into Missouri. The State board of agriculture of Illinois has been experimenting on Texas cattle at Rockford. Governor Tanner of Illinois has opened the State to dipped cattle, with a certificate from a government officer testifying that the cattle have been treated. Other States will doubtless follow suit.

In establishing dipping stations application must be first made to the Secretary of Agriculture, and permission granted before action concerning their location and construction is commenced. The bureau of animal industry furnishes inspectors at each station.

The Right Letter.

The familiar situation of the bashful wooer, who doesn't know whether to propose, and doesn't know how to propose, is given a new turn by a story in the Chicago Inter Ocean. The hero, John, had been calling on Mary for three years, but that was as far as he got until, visiting St. Louis on business, he found himself detained beyond the expected time.

He had to write to Mary, explaining his absence on the usual evening, and while writing, the courage he had so long lacked came to him, and he made a point blank proposal of marriage. He mailed the letter, and for two hours was one of the happiest men in Missouri.

Then he began to believe he had been precipitate, and was assailed with doubt as to how his letter would be received. That night he didn't sleep. He thought all sorts of things, and vainly wished he could intercept the letter before it reached her. But that was manifestly impossible.

It was not until noon the next day that he received an inspiration as he was passing a telegraph office. Rushing in, he seized a blank and nervously penned the following:

"Miss Mary ——, Chicago: Mailed you wrong letter yesterday. Please do not open, and deliver to me on my return."

After that he breathed freer, at the same time wondering if he hadn't played the fool in not letting the matter stand. That evening a telegram was awaiting him at the hotel. It read:

"John ——, St. Louis: No, you mailed right letter. It was about time."

And John didn't allow business to interfere with his return to Chicago.

THE LATE MLLE. RHEA.

A Foreign Actress Who Became Thoroughly Americanized.

The death of Mlle. Rhea marked the closing of a remarkably successful dramatic career. Rhea had thousands of admirers in this country and when ever she was announced to appear in anything seats sold at a premium. She was born in Belgium fifty-five years ago of French parents. Owing to the dissipation of her father's fortune she was early thrown upon her own resources and sought the dramatic profession as a means of gaining a living. After playing with marked success in the principal cities of the continent she came to London for a vacation in 1881. Becoming interested in English she determined to play in the language and in one month went on the stage with the part of Beatrice in "Much Ado

About Nothing." Shortly afterward she came to America and began a series of tours which brought her before the people of nearly every important city in the United States. She never afterward returned to Europe, except for brief visits.

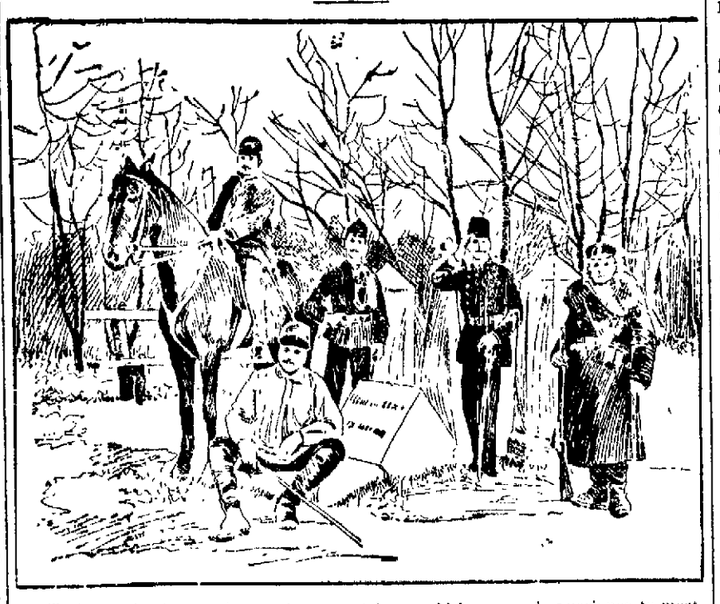
WHERE FOUR EUROPEAN BOUNDARY LINES MEET.



To be on the frontier line of four countries would be a novel experience to most men. But it is the common and daily lot of the police and customs officers shown in the accompanying picture. A step in one direction and they are in Germany; another step takes them to the Netherlands; another to Belgium, and another to the neutral territory, independent since 1814, a self governing country of about five square miles in extent, with no army and no import duties. The German policeman on horseback is flanked by the Dutchman, the Belgian constable and a German customs officer standing in that order, and the representative of the neutral territory has his throne on a rock which is the highest part of the Netherlands.

YALE'S NEW PRESIDENT.

Prof. Arthur T. Hadley, a Young and Gifted Writer and Student.

Prof. Arthur T. Hadley, who succeeds President Timothy Dwight as head of Yale University, is one of the most popular and capable professors of the college. He was graduated from Yale in 1876 and has been connected with the university ever since. He received the degree of M. A. from Yale in 1887. He was first a tutor, then instructor in political science and later a professor in this branch. He is now professor of political science and political economy.

PROF. ARTHUR T. HADLEY.

He was born in New Haven April 23, 1856, and is the son of a Yale professor. He has always lived in New Haven. He held the office of labor commissioner of Connecticut for two years and was one of the most fearless officers the State ever had, being especially popular with the workingmen. He is well known as a writer on railroads and as a statistician and student of the labor problem. He is one of the youngest of college presidents, but his brilliancy is admitted by all and good results are expected from his selection.

CHICAGO'S DAILY COW.

She Would Need to Be 127 Feet High and Give 131,000 Gallons of Milk.

If one cow was to give all the milk consumed daily in the city of Chicago she would need to be 127 feet tall and to give 131,000 gallons of milk each morning. Estimating that an average cow gives nine quarts of milk a day, it takes between 50,000 and 60,000 cows to supply the average demand. The milk comes into the city in 16,100 eight-gallon cans. To feed Chicago's daily cow takes each day about 3,000 tons of food exclusive of water. It is estimated that 17,000 people are directly engaged in gathering and distributing the milk supply. If there are 2,000,000 people in the city, each on the average consumes a little over half a pint of milk a day.

Flowers of Speech.

Pictures queness of phrase is habitual to the Irish. The following "flowers of speech" are from Mr. Macdonagh's "Irish Life and Character":

An Irishman was asked in America how he was getting on. "Middlin'," he said, "middlin'; but faix, I'd rather be a gaslamp in Dublin nor President of the United States."

An Irish navvy was complaining of his foreman. "He'd not stir a finger himself to lift a red herring off the gridiron, but he'd ask you to shift the Rock of Gibraltar."

A woman with several men folks in her family has to go away from home occasionally to get to sit in a rocking chair.

WHY SOME HAIR IS CURLY.

Professor Thomson Demonstrates and Illustrates the Science of It.

Prof. Arthur Thomson recently exhibited a model to illustrate how natural curliness of hair is produced. According to the explanation three factors require consideration in the production of curly hair, (1) the hair shaft, (2) the hair muscle, and (3) the sebaceous gland. Straight hair is always circular on section, and is usually thicker than curly hair, which is ribbon-like and fine. In order that the muscle may act as an erector of the hair it is requisite that the shaft of the hair embedded in the skin should be sufficiently strong to resist any tendency to bend; unless this be so the lever like action necessary to produce its erection is destroyed. When the hair is fine and ribbon-like, the shaft is not sufficiently stout to resist the strain of the muscle and naturally assumes a curve, the degree of curvature depending on the development of the muscle, the resistance of the hair, and the size of the sebaceous gland. The curve thus produced becomes permanent and affects the follicle in which the hair is developed, the softer cells at the root of the hair accommodate themselves to this curve, and becoming more horny as they advance towards the surface retain the form of the follicle; the cells on the concave side of the hair being more compressed than those on the convex side. In this way the hair retains the form of the follicle after it has escaped from it.

HOW CURLY HAIR IS PRODUCED.
(A, a straight hair, B, a curly one.)

FOLDING CASKS AND BARRELS.

Knock-Down Device that Saves Room and Freight Charges.

The casks used in many industries are necessarily so well made that they are delivered with their contents on the express agreement that they are to be returned when empty, and the cost of the return shipment of these casks is a very serious expenditure. With the view of cutting this expense down to a minimum, Phillis Mayotte, of Escanaba, Mich., has invented a knock-down barrel, which will reduce this item to the very lowest notch. In his design the barrel heads and staves differ but slightly from the usual type. The hoops, however, are of metal chains instead of flat iron bands, and the end links of these are held together by means of tightening bolts, by which means the tension is at all times regulated. The chains are held securely in place and prevented from slipping by means of pins, which are driven into the staves. When it is desired to ship the empty casks the tightening bolts are unhooked and the chains released, allowing the parts to separate entirely. In this shape many barrels may be shipped in the space usually taken up by one.

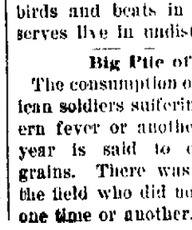
CHIP OF THE OLD BLOCK.

Son of the "Grand Old Man" Becomes the Liberal Whip.

Admirers of the late William Ewart Gladstone, England's "grand old man," will be interested in knowing that his son, Hon. Herbert Gladstone, has been selected by the Liberal party to act as its whip in the House of Commons. The office is an arduous and important one, but Mr. Gladstone is well known for his tactful measures and has an extended parliamentary experience.



HERBERT GLADSTONE

Mr. Gladstone was born in 1854 and received his education at Eton and University College, Oxford. Much of his political training he received from his father, and under the latter he acted as under secretary of the home office. If there be anything in heredity, he may yet become the leader of the Liberals and premier of Great Britain.

High Speed.

Records for high speed in express train service have been made on French railroads lately, showing an average of 54.5 miles per hour, including stops. Special compound locomotives of the four cylinder type, designed for this service, are employed exclusively on these trains.

Czar a Humanitarian.

Czar Nicholas II. is said to have an aversion to the needless slaughter of animals of any kind. He has recently foresworn the pleasure of the chase, and the shooting of game, and the birds and beats in the Imperial preserves live in undisturbed quiet.

Big Pile of Quinine.

The consumption of quinine by American soldiers suffering from one Southern fever or another during the past year is said to exceed 125,000,000 grains. There was hardly a man in the field who did not take the drug at one time or another.

THE FUTURE OF CUBA

SHOULD PROSPER UNDER AMERICAN INFLUENCES.

The Fertile but Devastated Island Has Inexhaustible Resources that Need but Proper Management to Make Them Very Highly Profitable.

Havana correspondence:

The problem of Cuba's future is one that is now creating wide-spread interest, and it is a relief to turn from a picture of trials and sorrow to a consideration of the manifest prosperity that seems signally sure to visit the island under auspices that will bring to the front its inexhaustible resources. These need but proper management to make them highly profitable. Practically the veil is now dropped over the panorama of human woes in a past rendered inglorious by the inordinate greed of a greedy race, and it now requires only the peace purchased with the blood of the men who fell at El Caney, Santiago and on the hills of San Juan, together with the generous, free-spirited enterprise characteristic of the American people to make Cuba as garden-like as in the primeval days.

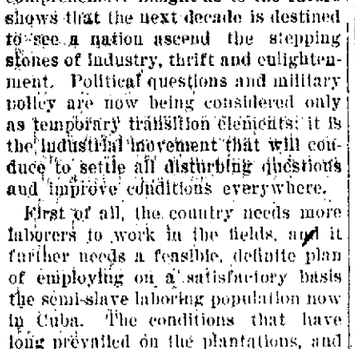
SCENE IN THE INTERIOR BEFORE THE WAR.

Immediately after the peace protocol, President McKinley sent a special commissioner to Cuba to investigate social conditions there. This has led to a study and a grouping of the real economic situations, and the island's business salvation must come out of the workings, philanthropic and commercial, of those who are interested in redeeming a people and their latent abilities. There are existing wrongs to redress, the destruction of war to repair—most practical and important, the elevation of the people in all walks of life. It is industrial Cuba that will now come into prominent view, and a comprehensive insight as to the future shows that the next decade is destined to see a nation ascend the stepping stones of industry, thrift and enlightenment. Political questions and military policy are now being considered only as temporary transition elements: it is the industrial movement that will conduce to settle all disturbing questions and improve conditions everywhere.

TYPICAL CUBAN HOME.

First of all, the country needs more laborers to work in the fields, and it farther needs a feasible, definite plan of employing on a satisfactory basis the semi-slave laboring population now in Cuba. The conditions that have long prevailed on the plantations, and which are still to be met with, are not such as would induce European immigration. It is quite uncommon to find a laboring man who can read or write. Marriage is loosely regarded, and the Cuban and the Spaniard alike are inveterate gamblers. Field labor wages average about $17 per month, an overseer gets $85, his assistant $35. The hours of labor are long—from 4 in the morning till 8 in the night. Labor seeking employment in Cuba at present must face these conditions. Meager food and poor accommodations have so far warned away outside laborers, even the negro.

With advanced and advancing conditions, however, it is believed that unwittingly the American negro will be the pioneer of a new labor era in Cuba. It follows that what has ennobled labor in the United States will have its elevating influence among the laboring people of Cuba. Herding laborers in barracoons like so many cattle, sleeping them, feeding them, bathing them with less care than is shown to the cattle, ruling them with whip and spur, making no provision or allowing no time for their mental or moral improvement, it is small wonder that for two centuries the sugar planter's crying need has been sufficient and efficient labor. The better grade that new conditions will maintain clears the problem, and its workings must, in the minds of practical thinkers, enter an era of prosperity for Cuba for all classes that will astonish and attract the world.



CUBAN FARM HOUSE.

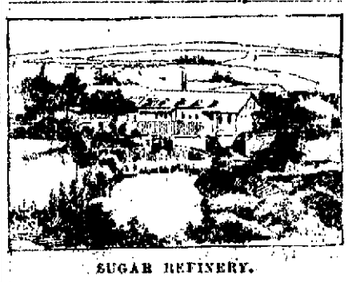
"Americanization" must take a hand in the rehabilitation of this country, so long laid desolate, and, with stable government, the same is bound to develop itself. In fact, even now the initial suggestions of transformation are manifest. Americans propose to build great docks in Havana harbor. Americans are anxious to construct railroads and telegraph lines, trolley roads and electric light plants. One has only to visit the Juragua mines, near Santiago, to understand what American development means. Here, upon mountains which are literally of solid iron, an American company has created a small city, building its own railroad and ocean docks, and housing its employes in the neatest buildings of their kind upon the island. The supply of iron is practically inexhaustible. It can be mined, transported to seaboard, carried by ocean to Philadelphia and thence conveyed to Pittsburg, at a lower price than Michigan ore can be bought at the latter city. This is a problem in labor and transportation which is worth considerable study.

Up to date the Cuban railroad is a fearful and a wonderful thing, which American genius must shortly revolutionize. It is narrow gauge, with cars that would not make respectable firewood, and engines of a past age. The tracks are loosely laid. There is a vast amount of business to be done in railway improvement and extension, and new immigration rules, put in force recently, favor the sturdy class of laborers. These prevent the ingress of any more Chinese, whose unsanitary conditions have been a menace in the past. The health bureau has already burned down infected quarters occupied by this class. Another undesirable element is that which have overrun the eastern part of the island—shiftless negroes from Jamaica, Hayti and San Domingo. New accessions of this class are now quietly shipped back home, unless they can show the possession of $40 in ready money. Cuba does not want any more public charges—it needs the vim and muscle that built up the great West and developed the mines of Pennsylvania and Alabama.

Progressive work in Cuba for women will be somewhat circumscribed for a time to come. There are few avenues open on the island now in which the gentler sex can earn a livelihood. None are seen in the shops, none behind the counters, none in offices. The "new woman" is not in Cuba. Still, the training for hospital service and the organization of a public school system would give employment to many made destitute by the war. The value of the American trained nurse cannot be overestimated in influence and practical results. One end immediately desired is that these educate Cuban women for hospital service trainings the better class of women—the refined and intelligent and now practically homeless.

STARVING CUBANS AT AN INTERIOR RELIEF STATION.

One can hardly realize that Cuba is but a hundred miles away from our Florida coast. This means very ready access. There is no color line; the average inhabitants are pliable, languorous, childlike persons, with traditions of idleness and ease that must be replaced with wakeful, healthy ambition. It is believed that the hum of industry will arouse these people and evoke co-operation. It will take much of the leaven of true energetic American enterprise to accomplish it, however. Gradually, as American goods come more and more into use, there is a perceptible appreciation of the utilities. Among the younger Cubans, too, a certain emulation, a comprehension that "things are on the turn" and a new era is due—these elements urge occupation and ambition. Cuba to-day has far more in visible national resources to encourage prospector and investor than did any of the Western States manifest fifty years ago. The development of these is bound in time to make the island rich. The new importance given to Cuba by the commercial attention bestowed by this country is likely to develop it into an ocean depot, a maritime clearing house, a point for the transaction and transference of business, the value of which cannot clearly be estimated. In these, the nucleus, the chrysalis days of a people newly freed from the bonds of moral and social slavery, and just on the threshold of a bright, glorious future of ambition, and hence, industry. To "Industrial Cuba" alone the economist and the promoter alike look for the grander results yet in store for this "isle of the sea."



SUGAR REFINERY.

Folk Lore.

The research into popular beliefs is an absorbing and not a profitless study. Scarcely a day passes that we do not run across some piece of superstition that dates, in one form or another, from a far antiquity. Salt is spilled at table, and with jest with our neighbor over the prospect of a quarrel, half believing in the sign, though we may not know that the Romans did the same. A dog howls at night, and we recall the widespread belief that the howling of a dog foretells death, but forget that our early Aryan ancestors assigned to the dog the office of messenger from the world of spirits.

The every day custom is as old as humanity; the nursery jingle may be traced back to an origin in the world's babyhood; the familiar fairy tale which delights nineteenth century children is found in varying forms in all countries, pointing to a common origin in a remote age, embodying old Aryan myths, and giving us interesting information of the conceptions of our ancestors regarding nature and human life.—Lippincott's.

NO COWARD.

Anecdote of a Brave Soldier in the Santiago Campaign.

War anecdotes of men "not mentioned in the reports" are now coming in, as returned soldiers recall the incidents of battle, and many of these are full of genuine pathos. The Courier-Journal gives this story, told by a regular army officer:

In the two days of real fighting before Santiago men of the different regiments became mixed, and for a time were lost to their comrades. This condition gave rise to the report that a certain few men had shown the "white feather."

One of the officers of Gen. Lawton's division observed among his men a colored trooper of the Tenth cavalry. On being questioned, the man explained that he had lost his command, and asked to be allowed to remain where he was.

He stayed and did fine service that day. None of his white comrades were able to outdo him in deeds of bravery. He twice risked his life in assisting wounded men to places of safety, but each time escaped uninjured.

That night he asked the officer whom he had met earlier in the day to give him a note to his own commander, accounting for his absence, and certifying to his good conduct. This was willingly done, and with the precious paper clasped tightly in his hand, under cover of darkness he started in search of his own command.

The next morning at dawn, Lieut. L. started on a search for wounded men of his division, and happened to stumble over a prostrate body. He immediately recognized the brave cavalryman of the day before, who was fast losing consciousness.

After struggling a moment for strength to speak, the prostrate man held up his little slip of paper, and said, "Give it to Captain A. of L troop, if you can find him, and tell him Williams wasn't a coward."

Then, with a look of satisfaction in his eyes, his hand dropped to his side, and he was dead.

JOHN BAKER'S MISFORTUNE.

John Baker, a shop hand at the Bass works, had his left foot badly bruised by a heavy wooden skid falling upon it Saturday afternoon. Fortunately none of the bones were broken. Several months ago Mr. Baker had the bones of his right instep broken by a similar accident and for five or six weeks was unable to work. He and his wife expected to go to Decatur, Ind., yesterday to spend a week or two with friends, but the accident interferred with their plans.

EXCURSION FROM MICHIGAN.

The largest excursion of the season, with one exception, was that which occurred on the Lake Shore yesterday. It was the first of a series of similar events that are to take place this summer, under the direction of District Passenger Agent P. C. Liggett and Excursion Manager W. W. Howard. Yesterday's excursion party numbered 503. It started from Jackson, Mich., and picked up excursionists at all the intermediate points. All went to Robison park, where they enjoyed the many attractive features of that very popular resort. The visitors were particularly interested in the "zoo" and in the stage performance, which are becoming better and better each week. The next excursion from Jackson and intermediate points will occur on July 16 and the next on July 30. These events will be better advertised than was the one of yesterday and it is expected that each excursion will number at least 1,500 people. The park management will endeavor to have some specially attractive features for the visitors on these occasions.

SHOPMEN'S FIELD DAY.

The Pennsylvania Athletic association will have "field day" exercises at Centlivre park next Saturday. The list of sports will not be ready for publication until tomorrow, but it is understood an attractive program will be presented, included being two or three open events. The City band has been engaged for the occasion, and provisions have been made for refreshments on the grounds. Entries will close Friday evening. A. C. Hobrock is the manager and W. T. Marks the secretry of the association.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

The clerks in the motive power and the master mechanic departments of the Pittsburg played ball Saturday at Centlivre park, the main features of which were the umpiring of Ed. Dillon, the rooting of the friends of the two clubs and the incomprehensibility of the score keeper's records. As a result nobody knows who won, though both parties claim victory. The Sentinel reporter learned from the motive power men that the score was 26 to 16 in their favor. The shop clerks say they won by a score of 17 to 15. One of them admitted, however, that there were other tallies made, but it was at the close of the ninth inning, when their club had abandoned the diamond and were regaling themselves at the lemonade lunch counter. The game will probably be called a tie and settled at some future time. What it lacked in scientific points it made up in "fun," for never was a game more enjoyed by spectators and players.

NEW ELECTRIC RAILWAYS.

A number of capitalists have become interested in an enterprise which, if carried out as projected, will make Indianapolis the center of a network of electric railways tapping every county in the central part of the state and touching the majority of the towns and villages in them. The men back of the scheme can command millions of dollars and they are going into it, not as a speculation with a view of selling to others, but as a permanent and legitimate business from which they expect to derive a good dividend. The proposed lines will handle passengers and freight and will make a specialty of handling farm products and such business as country towns and villages usually furnish. Some of the largest of the cities to be reached by these lines are Franklin, in Johnson county, on the south; Martinsville, Morgan county, on the southwest; Danville, in Hendricks county, on the west; Lebanon, Boone county, on the northwest; Noblesville, in Hamilton county, and Anderson, in Madison county, on the northeast; Greenfield, Hancock county, on the east, and Shelbyville, in Shelby county, on the southeast. All of these cities are county seats and are located in the most populous and thriving part of the state. The projectors have been quietly at work for some months and have already secured much of the right-of-way and in one instance a $38,000 subsidy. On some of the lines one-half of the public highway has been set apart by the county commissioners for the company's use. In no county has there been any trouble in securing right-of-way, the farmers welcoming the enterprise with alacrity, in many cases not only donating the right-of-way, but also land for switches wherever needed. All the lines will be easy of construction, because of the level country and few streams through which they pass. It is expected that some of the roads will be in operation by next winter.

PLANS CAMPAIGN.

BOER COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF PREPARES TO FIGHT.

WAITS DECLARATION OF WAR

WILL THEN BEGIN OFFENSIVE OPERATIONS.

READY WITH 20,000 TROOPS

WILL SWEEP ON THROUGH THE CAPE COLONIES.

London, June 19.—The St. James Gazette this afternoon claims to have received from an absolutely reliable source at Pctoria, capital of the Transvaal, the plan of campaign which will be followed by General Joubert, commander-in-chief of the Boers, in the event of war between the Transvaal and Great Britain. General Joubert's force, it appears, will consist of 20,000 men armed with Mauser rifles, in addition to forty-six quick firing guns and 1,000 artillerymen, most of them drawn from the German and Dutch armies. With these troops and help expected from the Orange Free State, Joubert expects to take the offensive immediately after the declaration of war, enter the Orange Free State and march on Kimberly, the British diamond mining center in West Griqualand, which forms four of the seventy divisions of Cape Colony.

Kimberly is about 100 miles northwest of Bloemfontein. In his march on Kimberly Joubert will use the railroad as far as available, expects to capture the town with slight loss and blow up the De Beers diamond mine.

Simultaneously, it is added, the railroad from Cape Town to Bulawayo will be destroyed by Boer sympathizers and agents in Cape Colony, who will also destroy the Port Elizabeth-Pretoria line, south of Bloemfontein, to prevent British troops from using it.

Finally, immediately after Kimberly is captured, General Joubert will advance on Cape Town, the capital of Cape Colony, through the western provinces, where the Dutch predominate, and are expected to join the Boers.

Joubert calculates that he will be master of Cape Town a fortnight after the declaration of war and that he will then be able to dictate terms of peace.

CHICAGO SHOCKED.

Chicago, June 19.—The population of this city is divided into two classes —those who are shocked at a group of statuary containing only nude figures of women that has been placed on the lake front just south of the art institute building, and those who admire it. And both classes, the shocked and the admiring, have been traveling to the lake front by the thousands. The group is clustered about a fountain. The whole scheme was the idea of Lorado Taft, instructor of the modeling class in the art institute, and the figures are the work of the women students. The pupils who made the figures are Evelyn Longman, Clarisse Wilson, Marguerite Wheeler, Edith Parker, Maud Moore, Mrs. Verde Dundas, Alice Cooper, Mary Parker, Edith Freeman and Marie Naughton. The figures in the group were taken to the lake front under cover of darkness Saturday night. Two big wagons were unloading sometime between sunset and dawn, and workmen, under the direction of the instructor and young women, put the figures in place. There are seven figures in all, arranged about the big new fountain. When sunrise came early passers-by halted and stood open-mouthed; for Chicago is not yet so much an art center as to suffer seven such figures to arive unnoticed. Commissioner McGann, of the department of streets, was informed by telephone of the sight as soon as he reached his office, and he at once hurried down to be shocked. He had to force his way through the crowd. Then he went back to his office and wrote sarcastically to Director French, of the art institute, laying down the laws of art and decency as believed in by the street department. Director French received many other messages during the day besides this one from Commissioner McGann, and while some were loud in their praise of Chicago's artistic talent, others urged that there were certain talents which, like one of those mentioned in the biblical parable, might better be hid. The two millions or so of the city population are eagerly awaiting a decision as to whether the seven figures will be allowed to remain on view undraped.

ANOTHER $500 VERDICT.

In the DeKalb county circuit court Saturday a jury returned a verdict for $500 against the Consolidated Street Railway of Fort Wayne in the damage suit commenced by Jackson Clem, a farmer, whose horses frightened at a car, ran away and upset the wagon, injuring Mr. Clem. S. L. Morris has not read the answers to the interrogatories, but it is probable he may ask for a judgment on the answers. This was the second verdict against the company for $500 in the same court in one week.

A BIG JUDGMENT.

In the superior court this afternoon Judge Hench rendered judgment for $4,731.61 in favor of Benjamin Rothschild vs. Peter Repp et al. Emittus Case, one of the defendants, is also given judgment for $540 against the other defendants.

HORRIBLE TALE FROM ALASKA

HUNGER DRIVES PROSPECTORS TO CANNIBALISM.

Three Men Lose the Trail, Exhaust Food and Two Eat the Third —All Dead.

Circle City, Alaska, May 29.—Via San Francisco, June 19.—A story of possible cannibalism and death on the Yukon trail has just reached here. Three men who left Dahl river on December 5th for Jimtown, were not heard of again and they were supposed to have been lost. Nothing was heard of them here until the steamer Rideout, which arrived today, brought a terrible tale of suffering and horror.

The men were Michael Daly, Victor Ediar and M. Provost. They were from Providence, R. I.; Woonsocket, R. I., and Brocton, Mass., respectively. Their bodies were discovered seventeen miles from the mouth of Old Man's creek, they having lost their trail and become bewildered. Having left Dahl river with only three weeks' food, but which was amply sufficient for the 150 miles to Jimtown, they were soon reduced to starvation.

Daly's body was found partly eaten on the stove in the tent, just as it was left when death overtook the others. Some scraps of moose hide and moccasin were found, of which they were endeavoring to make a stew.

Daly's body was identified by the clothes. The other two men were found dead five miles away from the tent. The fact of the tent flaps being shut down when found would seem to preclude the possibility of Daly's body having been eaten by animals. The other men doubtless were driven by hunger to the awful extremity of cannibalism. Four hundred dollars were found on the bodies.

The seven boats which wintered at Dahl river are all safe. They are the St. Michael, Reindeer, Monarch, Evans, Mary Graff, Luem and Rideout.

MAY LIVE OUT CENTURY.

Rome, June 19.—Prof. Mazzoni is of the opinion that the pope will live out the century, barring accidents. He visited the pope last week to examine the scar caused by the removal of the tumor from the pope's hip and found his general health considerably improved since the removal of the bandages three weeks ago. The pope asked Mazzoni how long he thought he would live, and the surgeon answered: "I believe your holiness will see the new century."

BURNED BY EXPLOSION.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 19.—By the explosion of a lamp in the house of Michael Jaska, on Voeghtly street, Allegheny, six members of the family were badly burned. The explosion set fire to the house, but the flames were extinguished with slight damage. The victims, which included the father, mother and four children, were removed to the hospital. All will recover but an eighteen-month-old baby, whose injuries are believed to be fatal.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

'Squire France is this afternoon hearing the evidence in two assault and battery cases. In one Harvey Stites is accused of committing an assault and battery on Frederick Strong. The other case is against Red McGittie, who is charged with committing an assault and battery on Hugh Crye last Friday evening at the Gentry show ground. Both were peanut venders.

CANADA IS MULISH

WILL NOT YIELD ON ALASKA BOUNDARY.

BRITAIN IS GIVEN CHOICE

A STORY FROM WASHINGTON

THAT LONDON FOREIGN OFFICE DENIES.

New York, June 19.—A special to the Journal and Advertiser from Washington says:

Canada has served notice on England that she must choose between the United States and her North American dominion in the settlement of the Alaskan boundary question.

It is stated on the highest authority that this statement represents accurately the conditions submitted to England, which has delayed the negotiations between Ambassador Choate and Lord Salisbury on the provisional line of the modus vivendi.

This position of Canada is known here officially. The official to whom it is known feels authorized, too, in saying that there are only two ways out of the difficulty, first, that Canada will voluntarily recede from her demands for a Pacific tidewater port; or, second, that the United States shall surrender the priciple laid down by Secretary Hay in his tentative boundary line, that America will not grant temporarily or otherwise any port facilities to the Canadians.

That Canada will yield is considered by state department officials who have discussed the new and acute phases of the situation as improbable.

It is asserted on authority that England has been forced to yield to Canada and that the United States and England are wider apart today in the controversy than at any time since the adjournment of the high joint commission.

The present situation, in the light of this important news, is that the conflict which the provisional boundary line was intended to prevent may be precipitated at any moment and with greater show of probability when it becomes known that England has decided to stand irrevocably behind Canada.

DECLARE STORY WRONG.

London, June 19.—The officials of the colonial office today were shown the dispatch from Washington saying that Canada had served notice on Great Britain that she must choose between the United States and her North American dominion in the settlement of the boundary dispute.

They declared that the story is wrong both in substance and fact and that it can be further reaffirmed that a modus vivendi was reached early last week, as cabled to the Associated Press at the time. The arrangement, which is a verbal one, deals with the question on broad lines. One or two minor details are still under discussion and when they are settled a final arrangement will be drawn up.

Generally speaking, it may be said that the boundary agreed upon follows the summits of the White and Chilcoot Passes.

TOD SLOAN IN DISFAVOR.

London, June 19.—The afternoon papers today are insisting that Tod Sloan, the American jockey, in spite of his denials, is the man who assaulted the waiter at Ascot on Thursday. The Evening News is indignant at the fact that the jockey club has apparently decided to let the matter drop and is stirring up public feeling against him. The paper says: "The English jockeys, by their behavior and general bearing, have succeeded during the last twenty years in totally altering their social status, and it is hard lines on them that a foreigner should come to England and bring disgrace on the profession without any official notice being taken of it. The next time Sloan appears on a race course he will learn what the public think of him. The fact that he denies what fifty people witnessed may display American bravado, but in no other way will it better his position." The Star publishes several abusive letters calling Sloan "an American stable boy" and "a Lilliputian Yankee." The same paper asserts that after careful investigation "it was shown that it was Sloan and no one else who struck the waiter with a champagne bottle, completely opening his lip, so that a large portion of it hung over his mouth." The waiter is still under the care of a doctor.

CHOSE A PASTOR.

The congregation of Zion's Lutheran church met yesterday afternoon to select a new pastor to succeed Rev. Juengel, who retires this fall. There were twelve ministers mentioned for the place, but the candidates finally narrowed down to three, and of these Rev. A. C. Kaumeyer, of Lancaster, Ohio, was the choice, receiving 86 out of 114 votes. The formal call will be extended in four weeks and it is understood that Rev. Kaumeyer will accept. He is said to be a very able minister, with progressive ideas and preaches in both English and German. He is thirty-eight years of age.

PAYMENT NOT A PREFERENCE.

REFEREE CHAPIN RULES ON TRUSTEE'S PETITION.

Schell Directors Did Not Violate Bankruptcy Act in Paying Hamilton National Bank.

A short time ago Trustee Keegan, in charge of the affairs of the Schell Loan and Investment company, filed with Referee Chapin a petition setting forth that in his opinion the Schell company exercised an undue preference in paying a claim of $16,000 to the Hamilton National bank, of this city, and asking for a ruling on the matter. The case came up before Referee Chapin for hearing Saturday. Trustee Keegan was represented by Vesey & Heaton, while Breen & Murris appeared for the bank.

After hearing the arguments and considering the case carefully the referee entered an order to the effect that he is of opinion that "the facts therein alleged fail to show an indebtedness or liability of the said bankrupt corporation to said bank. The bank discounted and held the individual notes of the directors, but no obligation was executed by the said bankrupt company to the bank. The money procured from the Colonial bank was obtained by the directors upon their personal note, and it was not a violation of the bankrupt act for them, while giving the bankrupt corporation the benefit of money so acquired to require that so much as was necessary should be used in payment of the $16,000 note secured by mortgage upon their property.

"Such seems to be the fair inference from the facts stated, and the referee is of the opinion that unless other controlling facts exist, there are not sufficient grounds for the trustee to attempt a collection of the Hamilton National bank, and he declines to instruct the trustee to take steps to that end."

CONTRACT AWARDED.

The board of works met in special session Saturday evening and awarded the contract for the Lewis street pavement to S. B. Fleming, who had bid $4.85 per lineal foot for that part of the street from Lafayette to Winter and $3.92½ per lineal foot from Winter to Walton avenue. There were a score or more Lewis street property owners present and G. W. McKee, F. J. Hayden and Otto Herbst took a leading part in the discussion. Some of the property owners were afraid the street railway company would not make the street between the tracks conform to the balance of the street and under such circumstances were opposed to any pavement. The board explained that the street railway company had agreed to make the improvement and if they did not do it promised to see that the company at least obeyed the requirements of the franchise and placed six inches of stone and two of sand under the brick used between the tracks. A telegram received from Mr. Fleming stated that he would be in Fort Wayne and sign a contract today. He has agreed to use Metropolitan brick, having secured a reduction in price.

DIRECTORS MEET.

The directors of the Fort Wayne Base Ball association held a meeting this morning and called Jack Glasscock into consultation. One of the directors informed The Sentinel that there was no discussion of changes in the team, although it is intimated some ironclad rules to control the players were announced.

The Toledos did not arrive until 4:07 this afternoon, having missed connections. The game was fixed for 4:15 and if the Mud Hens are not on the ground by that time the game may be forfeited to Fort Wayne.

MADE A BIG HAUL

MASKED ROBBERS GET $4,000 IN PHILADELPHIA.

LOOTED STREET CAR OFFICE

TEN ARMED MEN ENGAGED IN THE RAID.

THE EMPLOYES WERE BOUND

SAFE CRACKED AFTER TWO HOURS' WORK.

Philadelphia, June 19.—A gang of masked robbers, probably ten in number, early this morning raided the receiving office of the Fairmont Park Transportation company, at Belmont, in Fairmont Park, and after holding up the receiver and five other employes of the railway, blew open the safe, securing $4,000, the company's receipts for two days.

Frank Levan, receiver; Frank Watson and Henry B. Whitehouse, conductors; James Cavanaugh, fireman of the power house; Philip Eaves, electrician, and W. Cadmus, laborer, were bound hand and foot with wire. In addition to the men who actually committed the robbery, others operated miles away from the scene by destroying electric and telephone wires connected with the trolley company's main office. The Fairmont Park Transportation company operates various lines of trolley cars through the park for pleasure riders. The traffic being unusually heavy on Saturdays and Sundays, the robbers evidently decided upon this morning as being a good time to make a big haul. The men above named were all in the office when the burglars made their appearance. Each intruder was armed with two revolvers and they took the employes completely by surprise.

It was the work of a few moments for the robbers to pinion the workmen, who were rolled over to one side of the room, with their faces to the wall.

After nearly two hours' work the safe was rifled of it scontents and the gang disappeared.

The entire detective force is on the case, but the cracksmen left no clew.

Peter Duffert and Charles Smith, who say they live in Newark, N. J., and Albert Leeds, of Philadelphia, were arrested in Fairmount park on suspicion of being connected with the robbery.

AUGUSTIN DALY'S FUNERAL.

New York, June 19.—The funeral of Augustin Daly was held from St. Patrick's cathedral today. The cathedral was crowded and even the aisles were filled. The pall bearers brought the coffin to the head of the aisle, where it was put in place and covered with lilies. The pall bearers were Joseph Jefferson, Theodore Moss, Richard Dorney, George Clark, ex-Justice Roger A. Pryor, Richard M. Henry, William Winter, St. Clair McKelway, Joseph Howard, jr., J. A. Sullivan, George A. Robinson, John D. Crimmins, Nelson Goodwin Green, Dr. Oliver L. Jones and John B. Schoeffel.

GERMANY'S ATTITUDE.

Berlin, June 19.—An official of the German foreign office, who was interviewed today by the correspondent here of The Associated Press, relative to the visit of Dr. Zorn, one of the German delegates to the peace conference, to Berlin, emphasized the impossibility of Germany accepting Sir Julian Pauncefort's arbitration tribunal proposals.

UNDER A WAGON.

At noon today Edwin Meyer, the little son of Sigmund Meyer, residing at 35 Maumee avenue, fell in front of a delivery wagon and the vehicle passed over his legs. The lad was painfully bruised, but no bones were broken.

MADE A GREAT CATCH.

"Doggie" Miller, the agile right fielder of the Fort Wayne base ball team, introduced a new variety of his phenomenal catches this morning but it wasn't on the diamond. A horse and carriage owned by J. H. Bass was hitched in front of the postoffice, when the animal tore off its bridle and dashed down Berry street at a lively clip. "Doggie" Miller was just emerging from the Crescent restaurant as the horse approached and he rushed to the street and clutched the running horse by the nose. It was a dangerous feat, but Miller clung to the animal's nostrils until it stopped, when a slip of his hold would have thrown him beneath the animal's feet. The buggy and harness were considerably wrecked, but no one was injured.

ESCAPE OF STEPHEN SCOTT.

JUMPED FROM THE WINDOW OF A MOVING TRAIN.

A Thorough Search Failed to Locate the Young Criminal—A Good Riddance.

Stephen Scott, the young fellow arrested some weeks ago for an alleged criminal assault and who last week was sentenced to the reform school at Plainfield, escaped from his guard yesterday while en route to the reformatory.

He was in charge of "Doc" Nebro, a West Main street barber, who was going down on the excursion to Indianapolis, intending to visit Plainfield and if possible secure the release of his young brother-in-law, who is confined there. Sheriff Melching accepted this opportunity to send Scott to the reformatory and he was placed in charge of Nebro. Scott's hands were fastened together with handcuffs. When within a few miles of Noblesville Scott was taken to the train closet by Nebro, who after some persuasion released one hand from the iron cuffs but held to the loosened cuff himself. The train swung around a curve and as it did so the loosened cuff was jerked from Nebro's hand, the closet door banged to and in an instant Scott must have turned the lock as Nebro could not open the door. The brakeman was close by and his key would not unfasten the door and the train sped on to Noblesville. Before arriving there it was known that Scott had jumped from the train, and when the stop was made a peek into the window from the outside found the closet empty. Nebro immediately notified the Hamilton county sheriff of Scott's escape and telephone and telegraphic messages were sent to Cicero and Fort Wayne. Deputies mounted wheels and a visit was made to the place, four miles from Noblesville, where Scott jumped from the train window. He was nowhere to be found and the only person who saw him was a small boy who witnessed Scott's desperate jump. He fell to the ground with considerable force and lay there for a few seconds as if stunned. The lad started toward Scott, who jumped up and started for the woods on a run with the handcuff dangling from one hand. Every nook and corner for miles around were searched but Scott was not found, and it is believed he has made his escape and will soon be in with a gang of tramps who will saw the handcuffs off.

Mr. Nebro regrets exceedingly the escape of the young criminal, but asserts that circumstances were altogether against him and he has no doubt that Scott had been figuring on getting away from him. After the train left Tipton Scott's actions took a sudden change and Nebro informed him that he intended to take no chances, but as soon as Indianapolis was reached an officer would be called to assist in locking him in jail. It was a few minutes after this that Scott made his daring leap.

Sheriff Melching will keep up the hunt for the escaped lad, but will not care much if he is never found. The sheriff says:

"It is a good riddance for the county. Any person who will take the chances Scott did will not hesitate to shoot an officer and ultimately will make a desperate criminal. If he never returns here Allen county will be that much better off. I do not believe Scott told the truth when he said he was only sixteen. He is at least eighteen." The Hamilton county officers are keeping up the hunt, but nothing was heard from them today.

The West End young people will give a dancing party at Robison park Tuesday evening.

A FIERCE FIGHT.

WHEATON'S MEN ATTACKED BY SUPPOSED FRIENDLIES.

ASSAULTED FROM THE REAR

BATTLE RAGED HOTLY FOR SEVERAL HOURS.

ENEMY SUFFERS SLAUGHTER

FIVE AMERICANS KILLED IN THE FIGHTING.

Manila, June 19.—8:20 p. m.—A battalion of the Fourteenth infantry, which left Imus, where General Wheaton is in command, this morning, to reconnoitre towards Peres Las Marinas, where it was believed most of the rebels who had escaped from Paranaque and Bacoor had fled, was attacked in the rear by apparently friendly natives. This brought on a sharp engagement, lasting several hours, resulting in five Americans being killed and about twenty-five being wounded. The loss of the rebels was very heavy.

The battalion soon exhausted its ammunition and at 2:30 this afternoon General Wheaton and his staff, with the Second battalion, two mountain guns and one field piece, went to reinforce the troops attacked.

General Wheaton was fired on in a road and had a narrow escape.

Later, the third battalion was ordered to the front and formed on the Las Marinas road. Heavy firing on both sides followed, the artillery being freely used.

The enemy was located in the woods at 4 o'clock, showing signs of retiring, as the rebels were being pressed very hard. One gun of the Sixth artillery, in an advanced position, did great execution.

The fighting was still in progress at 5 o'clock, at which time the Americans had secured a quantity of Filipino arms which had been abandoned in the woods.

The scene of the fight is over twenty miles from Manila.

REGIMENT TENDERED.

Washington, June 19.—A telegram was received at the war department today signed by United States Senators Perkins and White, of California, as follows:

"Southern California supports administration in its efforts to suppress the Philippine insurrection and tenders the president for immediate service well organized and thoroughly disciplined regiment of infantry. Officers and men ready to embark as soon as necessary field equipments can be furnished."

It is stated at the war department that no action can be taken in the matter of the California regiment offered by Senators Perkins and White. The question of calling for volunteers has not been determined; besides it is not intended to organize state troops if volunteers are called for.

BROKE ALL RECORDS.

The 500 mile pigeon race which was held yesterday from Springfield, Mo., to this city, was one which broke all records for pigeon flying which have been made west of Philadelphia in the past several years. There were fifteen birds in the race belonging to Dr. Schilling and eight belonging to Henry Bench. The birds were released at 5 a. m. at Springfield, and four birds belonging to Dr. Schilling covered the 500 miles in a little more than thirteen hours, arriving here at 6:18 p. m. The birds were not expected until this morning and the time made was a revelation to the members of the club. This time breaks the record held by Cleveland birds for many years.

Tim Flood threw away a chance to tie the game in the ninth inning yesterday afternoon, when he attempted to score from third base while Manager Truby had the ball in his hand at second base. A little toss, the ball was in Latimer's hands and Flood was easily touched out. There was only one man out and had Flood remained on third, as he should, a long fly by Miller would have scored him and given Jack Glasscock, who had been batting effectively, an opportunity to bring in Letcher, who was pitched on first, and there might have been a different story to tell. Fort Wayne "fans" love the game and are loyal to the team, but the poor head work of some of the players recently has been enough to test the loyalty of any "fan." Every one of the last three games lost on the home grounds should have been victories, but instead they are marked up on the losing side of the percentage column.

Kelb and McFarland were opposing twirlers and each was batted hard. In the fifth McFarland hit a hard one past Kelb, who reached up to stop the sphere and the fingernail on his pitching hand was torn almost off and he was compelled to retire in favor of Guese, who was batted effectively when hits meant runs.

The game was close and exciting, first one team and then the other taking the lead. The credit for the victory, as far as run-scoring goes, belongs to McFarland, who made a home run in the seventh and then in the eighth with the score a tie duplicated the performance while there was a runner on base. In the ninth Guese singled and Flood and Belden walked, filling the bases with none out. Letcher hit a hot one to short and Belden was forced at second, Guese scoring. Here is where Flood made his foolish attempt to score and Truby easily caught him at the plate. With Litcher on first base Norcum, who umpired, called Miller out on strikes and the game was ended. BATTING AVERAGES.

As the season grows older the heavy hitters on the Fort Wayne team are slowly falling off in their batting until now there are only three players with a batting average as good as .300. Glasscock still stays in front, although his average is many points less than it was a week ago. Kuehne, Flood and Reiman are below .300, while big Tom Letcher has improved wonderfully and has finally reached the .300 mark. At his present clip he should soon be leading the team. Following are the averages including Sunday's game with Youngstown:

	G.	A.B.	H.	Pct.

CHANGES IN SCHEDULE.

The folowing changes have been made in the schedule of the Inter-State base ball league, as announced by President C. B. Power: New Castle at Mansfield, June 22, 23, 24, instead of June 26, 27, 28; Youngstown at Mansfield, June 19, 20 21, instead of June 29, 30, July 1; Mansfield at New Castle, June 26, 27, 28, instead of June 22, 23, 24; Mansfield at Youngstown, June 29, 30, July 1, instead of June 19, 20, 21. The changes were made on account of the races at Mansfield. The game sceduled between Fort Wayne and Youngstown at Fort Wayne was played yesterday. The game scheduled between Wheeling and Dayton at Dayton July 18 was played June 4. The game between Dayton and Grand Rapids scheduled for August 10 was played yesterday. The game between Dayton and Grand Rapids scheduled for August 12 will be played September 10.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Guese could not keep from getting "in the hole" on McFarland. With three balls on the sandy twirler Guese would put one over the plate and the result was two home runs.

Bob Gilkes and the balance of the Toledo ex-champions arrived in Fort Wayne at 10 o'clock this morning and are playing their first game of the season in this city. They will play three games here, but the Hoosiers cannot head them off even should they win all the games.

Letcher and McFarland did some great batting. Each was credited with four hits. McFarland made two home runs and two singles and Letcher almost tied him with a home run, a two-bagger and two singles. Glasscock and Truby were also in the batting with three hits each.

"Chic" Stahl ranks seventh in batting in the National league with an average of .376. He has made 71 hits, 41 runs, stole 3 bases and made 8 sacrifice hits. Delehanty, Lajoie, Hamilton and McGraw have batted over .400. Then come Keeler and Tenney ahead of Stahl. McGraw leads the base runners and Dexter has the most sacrifice hits.

Scores Saturday: Inter-State—Youngstown 9, Dayton 2; Toledo 7, New Castle 3; Mansfield 7, Grand Rapids 1. National—St. Louis 7, Louisville 0; Pittsburg 6, Cleveland Chicago 12, Cincinnati 1; Philadelphia 6, Boston 4. Western—Columbus 9, Buffalo 8; St. Paul 8, Milwaukee 7; Detroit 11, Indianapolis 5; Kansas City 11, Minneapolis 8.

In the seventh Van Buren made a wonderful catch off Hollingsworth. The Fort Wayne short stop hit a short fly over Berte's head and it seemed impossible for any fielder to get it. Van Buren sprinted like wild and reached down just as the ball was about to hit the ground, got the sphere in one hand and held it, although he could not stop running until he had run twenty feet farther.

SWINNEY PARK IS IN DEMAND.

MOST POPULAR RESORT FOR PICNICS AND OUTINGS.

Engaged for July 4, 1900, and an Application Filed for July 4, 1901.

Without question Swinney park is the most popular resort in and about Fort Wayne for family outings, church and society picnics, etc. Every evening families go to the park and enjoy the refreshing breezes and cold water that spurts from the flowing well. Churches, societies, etc., make application almost weekly for the use of the park for picnics. The biggest picnic of the summer will probably be held on July 4, under the auspices of Emanuel's Lutheran church. The City band, with twenty-two pieces, has been engaged to furnish the music. So great is the demand for the park on holidays that the board of works has already granted to St. John's Lutheran church the privilege to hold a picnic there on the Fourth of July, 1900. The Salem Reformed church tried to get the park for the Fourth and failing have submitted a request to the board that they be now granted permission to picnic there on the Fourth of July, 1901, more than two years from now. The application will be acted upon by the board at its regular meeting this afternoon.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, June 19.—A break of over a cent marked the opening trading in wheat today, September starting at from 77¾c to 77⅞c, compared with Saturday's closing price of 78⅞c.

The market a moment or two after the opening recovered to 78c, but a good deal of stop loss selling and general liquidation was started by the early break, and the price soon after again declined to 77¾c.

The principal factor was a break of 1½d at Liverpool. Some rain was reported in parts of Russia. Domestic news was bearish. Northwest receipts were heavy, Minneapolis and Duluth reporting 846 cars, against 976 last week and 87 a year ago.

Chicago receipts were 87 cars, seven of contract grade.

World's shipments amounted to 7,639,000 bushels. The market received considerable support on the decline, local traders being inclined to play for a rally, and September gradually reacted to 78⅜c.

Corn was weak and lower at the opening on large receipts, 971 cars, fine weather west and 3d decline at Liverpool. There was a rush of selling by receivers and scalpers, but after this was disposed of the market became steadier and again reacted somewhat.

September opened at 34½@34¾c, against Saturday's closing price of 34⅝c, and advanced to 34⅞@35c.

Oats were fairly active and lower with wheat and liberal receipts.

Receivers sold against country acceptances. Receipts were 246 cars.

September opened ½c lower at 22@22½c, and sold between 21⅞@22½@22¼c, becoming steady at 22½c.

Provisions were very dull. Hog prices were lower and pork and lard were slightly affected, commission houses selling moderately.

The demand was mainly for shorts.

September pork opened 2½c lower at $8.37½; September lard opened 2½@5c lower at $5.10@5.12½ and held at $5.12½; September ribs unchanged at $4.82½.

Butterflies.

Every one has seen the little yellow butterflies that settle down in swarms upon the country roads in the summer time, but very few of our little friends know in what great families they travel nor what great distances they go. Flocks of them have been seen fluttering overhead, all going in the same direction, that covered 16 miles and took three days in passing, and they have been seen far out at sea, where they fairly cover the decks and rigging of the ships.

Citing an Exception.

Meeks—But what's the use of arguing the matter? One can't get more out of a bottle than he puts in it. Weeks—Oh, I don't know; I put a quart of liquor in a bottle once and got a big head and a $10 fine out of it the next morning.

CARRIED OUT ORDERS.

But Perhaps Obeyed Her Mistress a Little Too Literally.

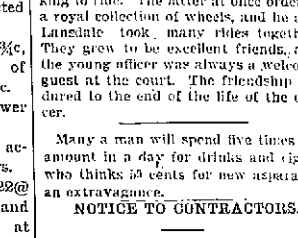
Mrs. Smith, who lives on Calumet avenue, sent a domestic out the other day with a tailor made suit that she wanted cleaned and pressed.

"Now, Bridget," said she, "these cleaners are sometimes very careless if they think one will put up with poor work. You take this over to — Cottage Grove avenue, and be sure to impress it upon the old fellow that I want the work well done."

Bridget came back in the course of half an hour, evidently well pleased with herself.

"Sure, mum," she explained, "O'll warrant yer dress is irruned to perfection. Oi tould 'im, sez Oi, the woman yez be goin to wornk for is the divil. She's the particularest craythur yez iver had dailins wid, bein that homely she knows her dresses has got to be distbracktingly good lookin. Oi fixed him fer yez, mum, an niver tould no lies, neither."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Pre-empted.



"Found!" cried the explorer, as the north pole hove in sight. "I annex this district in the name of my gracious sovereign."

"Too late," murmured a native laconically. "All this district is under the control of the ice trust."

In 2000.

Son (reading ancient literature)—Papa, what does this expression, "Money makes the mare go," mean?

Father—In ancient times "money" was a powerful drug which, when applied to an individual, greatly stimulated him while it soothed his conscience. It frequently caused him to draw others out of difficulties. The "mare," I understand, was a primitive form of the autocarriage of today, which was used in the drawing process. The entire expression now would be something like this: "A powerful stimulant presses the autolever and turns on the current."—Cleveland Leader.

Lansdale and Koren's King.

Some years ago Lieutenant Lansdale, who was killed at Samoa, visited Korea on one of the American cruisers. He had a bicycle with him, and when Chemulpo was reached went ashore for a ride. It was the first bicycle the ignorant and superstitious coolies had seen, and they fled at the first sight of the strange man gliding along on it. The king heard of the wonderful machine, and Lansdale received a polite summons to come to Seoul and bring his wheel. He did so, and taught the king to ride. The latter at once ordered a royal collection of wheels, and he and Lansdale took many rides together. They grew to be excellent friends, and the young officer was always a welcome guest at the court. The friendship endured to the end of the life of the officer.

Many a man will spend five times the amount in a day for drinks and cigars who thinks 50 cents for new asparagus an extravagance.

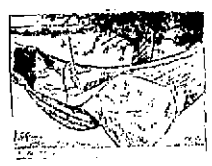
It Isn't a Pleasure



To us to extract a tooth—but, when the operation becomes necessary, we are at least able to say emphatically that we can render it painless by our painless method. It isn't a pleasure, because every tooth that must finally be extracted might have been saved if prompt action had been taken, and marks a loss that we know to be in a measure irreparable. That's why we would rather save teeth that can be saved, but administer clinical air as the best of painsaving means of extracting teeth that are useless.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Emma Schalk, of this city, and Louis Lancaster, of Chicago. The wedding takes place at the home of the bride, 31 Boone street, Tuesday evening, June 27th, at 6 o'clock. The groom is employed in the Nickel Plate offices in Chicago. The couple will take a trip to Buffalo and Niagara Falls before taking up their permanent residence in Chicago.

The Bluffton News says: "Mrs. Brooke Sale, who recently moved from this city to Indianapolis, is in one of the Chicago hospitals where, on June 6 she underwent a very severe surgical operation. For several days thereafter she was in a critical condition and fears were entertained that she would not recover from its effects. Later word however, is that she is recovering and will get through nicely." Mrs. Sale will be well remembered by many friends in this city as Miss Lotta Lowry, and they will rejoice to hear that she is being restored to health.

A most unusual accident occurred last evening in Niemann's cigar store at Jefferson and Calhoun streets. Cornell Kelley, who is employed in the Summer's drug store, was standing talking to a friend when some one noticed a smell of cloth burning and at the same time noticed smoke issuing from the pocket of Kelley's coat. The coat was hastily discarded and some water was thrown on it. An investigation revealed the fact that some matches in the pocket had become ignited and had set fire to the coat, which was ruined. Kelley's hand was severely burned in taking the coat off.

Three great international questions disturb the entente between the United States and Great Britain. Canada is making a pretty mess of trouble over the Alaska boundary, Tod Sloan, the American jockey, assaulted a waiter with a champagne bottle, and Dr. James Jeffries is going over to England to put some finishing touches on the long-continued argument that Charley Mitchell is a "has-been."

It is to be hoped that Great Britain will not be compelled to draw the sword to rench a settlement of the Transvaal difficulty, but it looks as though war would ensue. President Kruger will go so far to avert war, but the extent of his concessions will not be great, because the Boers do not greatly fear England. The situation of the Outlanders in the Transvaal is galling and they are entitled to the redress that the British government is disposed to give them even at the cost of war. It will be a bloody war, if it comes, and England will pay dearly for the rights of the Outlanders.

The automobile appears destined to become a factor in civilized life, especially in cities, at a very early day, and some speculation is naturally abroad as to the form which the new vehicle will eventually take. As in the case of the railway train in its early stages of development the automobile is at present very much like its predecessors used with horse power, but it will doubtless be adapted to its own particular use before very long. For one thing it has not yet settled where the seat of the motorman is to be. It is desirable, of course, that the passengers have an unobstructed view of the road, but it is necessary that the motorman should have a view equally clear. If he sits in front of the passengers, like a coachman, he will be in their way; if he sits above them, on the roof, like the driver of a London cab, he will be in an awkward position in case of accident. It has been suggested that his seat might be swung low down near the truck, which would enable him to see any small obstruction which might be in the road. Perhaps this is the plan which will ultimately be adopted. The brains of many clever inventors will probably be at work for the next few years, shaping designs for the automobile of the future, and there is a chance for some bright young fellow to win fame and fortune in this field.

TRUSTS AND TRAVELING MEN.

C. E. Dowe, of New York, president of the Commercial Travellers' National league, read a prepared statement before the Industrial commission Saturday, bitterly attacking trusts. Recently he addressed circulars to thousands of commercial travellers asking their views as to trusts, and the replies, with scarcely one exception, were denunciatory. Mr. Dowe said:

"Commercial travellers are against trusts, both from self-interest, naturally to be expected under the conditions as an outgrowth of combinations, and because of the principles involved—the injustice to the people, the menace to democracy, the semblance to plutocracy and the rottenness of the whole movement. From figures supplied me by commercial men I submit the following: That more than 35,000 salesmen have been thrown out of work through the organization of trusts, and about 25,000 reduced in salary, some being retained at a big cut in compensation in house positions, others as travelling agents; 60,000 salesmen directly affected by trusts."

Mr. Dowe estimated that annual expenditures cut off by the direct influence of trusts amounted to $114,000,000, of which $60,000,000 is the loss in salaries and $27,000,000 in railroad tickets and excess baggage. The loss to hotels he pinced at $27,000,000. If one-half of all the commercial travellers are dispensed with, as Mr. Dowe thinks likely if the formation of trusts continues, $118,000,000 would not cover the annual salary loss. The loss to the railroads would be $75,000,000—that is to say, about $7,500,000 less than the dividends of all the railroads of the United States for 1898. Mr. Dowe spoke of the effect of trusts in paralyzing individual effort. Continuing, he gave specific instances of the dismissal of salesmen, saying:

"The great tobacco combines threw out about 3,000 men; the Continental Tobacco company telegraphed the discharge of 350 in one day; the baking powder trust has dispensed with all, excepting half a dozen men. The bicycle trust will throw out 600 salesmen and will cut down agencies in every city; the chair trust will efsa lesmen. The Union Bag and Paper company has thrown out of employment hundreds of salesmen. The number of salesmen out of work because of the United States Rubber company is 300. The American Tin Plate company cut off about 90 out of every 100 salesmen. Sugar and coffee monopolies have thrown out 1,000 salesmen; average reduction in salary of those retained, $1,000 a year, 25 per cent. only of the old force being retained in house positions."

Mr. Dowe said that the trusts had raised the prices of the comodities they controlled from 10 to 100 per cent. in almost every instance except coffee nd sugar. In these they were still fighting for control of the field.

SAID HIS FIRST MASS.

Rev. Thomas Mungovan, who was ordained at Mt. St. Mary's seminary, at Cincinnati, on Friday by Archbishop Elder, of that city, said his first mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday morning. Father Mungovan was assisted by Father Delaney, with Father Durham, of the Cathedral, as deacon, and Edward Mungovan, a theological student and brother of the new priest, as subdeacon. James Fitzpatrick was master of ceremonies and was assisted by James Connolly. Father Delaney preached an excellent sermon, commemorative of the occasion. In the afternoon Father Mungovan celebrated solemn vespers and in the evening was tendered a reception at the home of his sister, Mrs. R. F. Markey, where many of his friends shook hands and wished him success. Father Mungovan received his education in the Cathedral schools in this city and entered St. Vincent's college, at Latrobe, Pa., where he remained five years, and then began a final course at Mt. St. Mary's, in Cincinnati. Fathe Mungovan will be attached to the Fort Wayne diocese.

CHARLEY MITCHE'S JOKE.

New York, June 19.—Jim Jeffries has received a challenge from Charley Mitchel. The English pugilist sent a cable to Tom Childers, of the Hoffman house, authorizing him to arrange a match with Jeffries to take place in London this summer. Jeffries said last night that he would accept the challenge and would fight Mitchel two weeks after his arrival in England. He is willing to fight Mitchel ten rounds or to a finish before the club offering the largest purse. The only condition that Jeffries said he would make in the articles is that an American shall referree the contest. Childers says that the National Sporting club of London will make a bid for the fight. The champion expects to sail for England July 27th.

BUSINESS MEN TO MEET.

A proposition is on foot to revive the Fort Wayne Business Men's exchange and a meeting will be held at the city hall Tuesday evening with that purpose in view. All will readily realize the value of such an organization in locating new enterprises in the city and otherwise advancing the commercial interests of Fort Wayne, and within the past few days John B. Monning has visited a large number of merchants and manufacturers to solicit their aid in bringing about the revival of the organization. Practically every concern of prominence, together with many of the leading capitalists, business and professional men have signified their willingness to aid the project, and it is hoped the meeting on Tuesday evening will be largely attended.

TRAIN WRECKERS TAKEN.

Salt Lake, Utah, June 19.—A special to the Tribune from Monida, Mont., says: Near Dwells, Wyo., just south of the Yellowstone Park, the park scouts captured early today the three men supposed to be the Union Pacific train robbers. The men were surrounded by the scouts just before daybreak. The men are now being taken across the country to the Mammoth Hot Springs. This news was brought to Monida by the driver of the Monida and Yellowstone Park stage. The names of the men are not known. They were captured without the firing of a gun.

NORTHERN INDIANA NOTES.

Six cases of small pox are reported at Shipshewanna, a small town in northwestern LaGrange county, and the place has been put under a stringent quarantine.

The recent graduating class at North Manchester made their bow before the public attired in sweet simplicity of white shirt waists and duck skirts. This was done in compliance with a request made by the school board in order to avoid undue expense and extravagance.

The bodies of George Laurie and wife, who were trampled to death by an angry bull near Huntington, were buried together Sunday. The double funeral was largely attended.

The seven-year-old daughter of Henry Clay, of Wabash county, was fatally injured by a vicious horse.

It is said that evidence has come to light that Johnson Nelson Smith, a tramp who was sent to the state reformatory for twenty-one years on a charge of criminal assault on little Lizzie Stoffer, at Huntington, did not commit any assault. The girl's father and another man apprehended Smith and beat him in a terrible manner before turning him over to the officers.

The big bank barn and several outbuildings at the Wells county infirmary burned Saturday, causing a heavy loss. Farm implements and animals were saved, but a considerable store of grain was burned. Hard work was experienced saving the infirmary building itself, as a high wind swept the flames dangerously close to it. There was $4,000 insurance, which covers only a small part of the loss.

George Huff, at Portland, has given a public exhibition of his new light for which he has applied for a patent. It is in the nature of a gas and burns with intense brilliancy, a jet of flame the size of a silver half dollar giving out a fifty candle power light. He claims that it is made of water and the secret lies in the apparatus for generating it. He claims to be able to furnish heat and light for an ordinary dwelling at an expense of two cents a day.

V. T. Sweeney, state commissioner of fish and game, will meet with the property owners at Lake Wawasee in the near future for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of establishing a hatchery at that place. Every effort is being made to secure the hatchery and the property owners are very much interested in it. Mr. Sweeney will confer with them about July 1st. The Syracuse Register says Winona people are also after the hatchery, but the commissioner favors Wawasee.

A REMARKABLE RECORD.

Next September will mark the completion of the twentieth year of Principal C. T. Lane's connection with the Fort Wayne schools and his fellow teachers in the high school last Friday gave Mr. Lane a most fitting testimonial of their esteem for him and a recognition of his ability as an instructor. On reaching his home Mr. Lane found a handsome easy chair awaiting him, the gift of the teachers. His lengthy period of service in Fort Wayne has been remarkably successful and it is needless to say he values the gift highly.

THE HOUSEHOLD

How to Clean Silver.

Instead of rubbing with prepared chalk for hours, the silver service may be cleaned in a few minutes quite as effectively. After each meal the silver should be put in a small dishpan, kept for the purpose, and covered with luke warm water, to which a tablespoonful of powdered borax has been added, then taken out immediately and rubbed on a soft cloth, and each piece rubbed with a piece of chamois skin. The borax removes the tarnish quickly. Some prefer leaving the water as hot as your hands can bear it, and rub the silver quickly while the water is hot, and put away out of the light. Newspapers are excellent for shining up silver, even better than the chamois skin.—Economist.

Baked Ham.

To bake ham, first soak it whole in water over night. Then rinse, scrape and place it in water over the fire. Having allowed it to boil gently two hours, remove it from the water and take off the skin. This done, place the ham in a large dripping pan and bake it in a very moderate oven for three hours, basting it frequently. Use for the basting a generous cupful of vinegar in which a tablespoonful of brown sugar has been dissolved. Pour this over the ham in quantities of a few teaspoonfuls at a time, and when it is all consumed, baste with the drippings from the pan. Hams cooked in this way are always tender and of most excellent flavor.

Care of the Stove.

If a little kerosene is used to mix with the blacking used to polish stoves before putting them away for the summer, it will prevent rust. The isinglass should also be wiped clean with vinegar, then polished, the stove pipes carefully emptied, brushed free from all soot and the joints numbered, so that in putting them together again in the fall there need be no cause for profanity from the one appointed to "set up the stove." The stove slinker and poker should also be wrapped in paper and laid inside the stove, and then newspapers laid over the stove to protect it from dust.

Fish Balls.

Ingredients, boiled potatoes; freshened, slowly boiled, "salt, dry fish;" pork gravy in sufficient proportions for hash. Peel potatoes while hot, mash and mix with the finely shredded fish and moisten with the pork, which has been cut into fine bits and tried out slowly, crisping the slices. Season to taste, adding a boiled, chopped onion if that flavoring is liked. Mold into balls and let it stand till next day, when brown in moderate oven. Half a cup rich, sweet cream is an improvement, mixed when mashing the potatoes.

To Can Tomatoes.

When the tomatoes are ready to fill into jars, throw in as much salt as would be necessary to season fresh tomatoes for the table; if you wish to eat them with sugar, the salt improves them. Glass jars should be kept in a dark place; if you have no cellar a dark closet will do equally well. To prevent freezing put a heavy comfort over jars; when very cold put some live coals in an iron vessel and set in closet, placing a rock under to prevent burning floor.

Chicken Pie.

Season with salt and boil your chicken until it is tender. Butter a pan and line the sides with good light biscuit dough; put in a layer of chicken; cut dough in 2-inch squares and put in a layer of pepper and bits of butter; again a layer of chicken, then dough, butter and pepper and so on. Pour in the broth and put on strips, leaving room for the gravy to bubble through. Bake a rich brown, and just before you take out of the stove, stir half spoonful of flour in a cup of cream and pour in.

To Clean White Veils.

White veils may be nicely cleaned by soaking for half an hour in a solution of ivory or castile soap. Then press between the hands until clean. Rinse in clear water. Make a cupful of very weak starch or gumarabic water, soak the veil in it a few moments, then clap in the hands until nearly dry. Spread a towel over a pillow and pin the lace in each point smoothly over it, letting it remain until perfectly dry.

Sure to Keep Off Mold.

When jelly, preserves, marmalade or any kind of fruit butter is cool and ready to be put away, cut a piece of tissue paper a fraction larger than the vessel and press down smoothly over the contents and against the sides of the vessel. Tie a paper over it and you will never be troubled with mold or the contents drying away.

HOOSIER LANDMARK GONE.

Porter County's Primitive Temple of Justice Torn Down.

The demise of Hoosierdom's oldest and most unique public building, Porter County's first temple of justice, took place in the business center of Valparaiso in broad daylight not long ago.

The history clustered about this embryonic legal sanctuary of the pioneer world of Northern Indiana reads like a fairy tale. The first session of the Circuit Court ever held in Porter County commenced the first week in October, 1836, at the home of John Saylor, just across the street from the present courthouse. Judge Samuel C. Sample seated himself with great dignity behind a little table, on which were placed a few law books, and in the presence of about forty men declared court to be in session. The grand jury strolled out of the stuffy courtroom and was obliged to hold its deliberations under a large oak tree in the wood close by. The members were seated on the ground, and a log fire was built to impart warmth and cheer to the dismal session. Not one of those that made up the first grand and petit juries is now living. The outdoor sessions were a necessity for some time, but soon public sentiment began to change. The people wanted more commodious quarters in which to hold their sessions, and in 1837 a subscription paper was circulated to raise the funds necessary for building a courthouse, and the munificent sum reached $1,250.

A frame building, 22x30 feet, was erected on the west side of the present

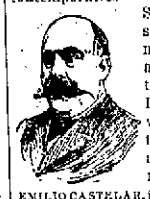
public square, with only a single room. It was completed in the fall. In this building John Pelton, the only man ever sentenced to death in Porter County, was tried and convicted of murdering Francis Stines, and was hanged in 1838 from a tree on the site of the Valparaiso high school building. Pelton's was the first legal execution of record in Northern Indiana.

The old frame court house building was the pride of the whole northwest corner of Indiana until 1853, when it was succeeded by an old-fashioned brick building, sold for a small sum and removed to the west side of the city, where it stood for years obscured by the thick woods and underbrush. It was then moved back to within a few feet from where it was originally erected, being used as a woodshed and storage-room.

ORATOR, SCHOLAR, STATESMEN

Spain Lost Greatest of Her Men in Emilio Castelar's Death.

The death of Emilio Castelar has removed a man who outranked all his contemporaries in the public life of Spain, and who besides enjoyed international reputation as a writer, an orator and a statesman. He was a man of wide culture and attainments. Through a stormy career he maintained his personal honor unsullied, and though actively engaged in politics he disdained the artifices of the practical politician.



EMILIO CASTELAR.

Castelar was born in Cadiz in 1832, and at an early age lost his father. He had a hard struggle to obtain an education, but by the aid of his pen succeeded. The revolution of 1854 was the starting point of his political career. He made a speech at a public meeting in support of democracy, and the next morning he was famous. He allied himself with the then democratic paper, El Tribuno, and each day saw his popularity grow. In 1866 he took part in an uprising against the crown and was condemned to death. He fled to Paris, where he remained two years, returning to Spain to be recognized as the chief of the Republican party.

After Amadeus, who was elected King by the Cortes on the expulsion of Isabella, resigned, Castelar took the helm of the foreign office in the Cabinet of the newly formed republic. Later, in 1874, Castelar became President of the republic, with almost dictatorial powers. While in this position he did good service for the state. He was unable, however, to maintain himself in power, and the republic fell. Alfonso XIII. was then proclaimed King, and since then Spain has been a monarchy.

Of late years Castelar had not taken a very active part in politics, though he was a member of the Cortes subsequent to the time when he was President of the republic. He ultimately became convinced that a monarchy was the best form of government for Spain.

SURE DEATH TO TICKS

GOVERNMENT HAS ESTABLISHED BATHS FOR CATTLE.

By the Use of Medicated Dips Each Animal Is Given a Clean Bill of Health—Will Greatly Benefit Southern Stock Raisers.

The new government regulations concerning the shipment of Southern cattle have now been in effect long enough to relieve the Southern stock raiser and Northern buyer of many difficulties previously prevailing. The government seeks to preserve Northern cattle from Texas fever, to which Southern cattle are subject. The fever is transmitted from beast to beast by means of ticks. In midwinter there is no danger of infection in the North because frost, which is fatal to the fever tick, protects uninfected cattle. With the new regulations there is a boom in the shape of a special treatment for ticky cattle, which provides all the immunity given by frost as a cleaning agent. All infected or suspected cattle must be dipped in a medicated bath, and the dip serves to give each particular bull, cow, calf or steer a clean bill of health. Consequently the cattle industry of the South has received a helping hand that will be appreciated in that and other sections of the country. There are at present only three authorized dipping stations. They are Fort Worth, Texas; Mammoth Springs, Ark., and East St. Louis, Ill.

The dipping apparatus consists of a tank fifteen feet long, nine feet deep, and so narrow as not to permit a steer to turn around in it. Side walls ten feet above the surface of the ground serve as "splashers," and also more securely confine the animal while it is undergoing treatment. The entire inside of the tank is lined with zinc to keep the contents from leaking out and becoming wasted. The tank is filled nearly full with a dip. This is a concentrated dynamo oil, saturated with flowers of sulphur, the sulphur being about one-half of 1 per cent. of the contents of the tank.

The operation of dipping consists in driving the steer into a short alley, or chute, which is then closed behind the animal. The steer is thereby left standing on a hinged platform. This gives way with the animal, which slides with a plunge into the black, oily liquid. The beast is submerged, and walks out by the inclined bottom of the tank, saturated with the mixture. Then that steer is troubled no more with ticks, and may rub up against healthy animals without danger of infecting them. The dip mixture is sure death to fever ticks. The dipped steers are detained in a pen after the bath, where they are allowed to dry. They are inspected by government veterinarians, to see if they have been thoroughly treated, before being passed.

Several States have been working with the above formula, and the board of agriculture of Missouri is so well satisfied that the dipping process entirely eradicates the ticks which cause disease that an amendment was passed in the Legislature of that State authorizing the admission of Texas and Cherokee cattle into Missouri. The State board of agriculture of Illinois has been experimenting on Texas cattle at Rockford. Governor Tanner of Illinois has opened the State to dipped cattle, with a certificate from a government officer testifying that the cattle have been treated. Other States will doubtless follow suit.

In establishing dipping stations application must be first made to the Secretary of Agriculture, and permission granted before action concerning their location and construction is commenced. The bureau of animal industry furnishes inspectors at each station.

The Right Letter.

The familiar situation of the bashful wooer, who doesn't know whether to propose, and doesn't know how to propose, is given a new turn by a story in the Chicago Inter Ocean. The hero, John, had been calling on Mary for three years, but that was as far as he got until, visiting St. Louis on business, he found himself detained beyond the expected time.

He had to write to Mary, explaining his absence on the usual evening, and while writing, the courage he had so long lacked came to him, and he made a point blank proposal of marriage. He mailed the letter, and for two hours was one of the happiest men in Missouri.

Then he began to believe he had been precipitate, and was assailed with doubt as to how his letter would be received. That night he didn't sleep. He thought all sorts of things, and vainly wished he could intercept the letter before it reached her. But that was manifestly impossible.

It was not until noon the next day that he received an inspiration as he was passing a telegraph office. Rushing in, he seized a blank and nervously penned the following:

"Miss Mary ——, Chicago: Mailed you wrong letter yesterday. Please do not open, and deliver to me on my return."

After that he breathed freer, at the same time wondering if he hadn't played the fool in not letting the matter stand. That evening a telegram was awaiting him at the hotel. It read:

"John ——, St. Louis: No, you mailed right letter. It was about time."

And John didn't allow business to interfere with his return to Chicago.

THE LATE MLLE. RHEA.

A Foreign Actress Who Became Thoroughly Americanized.

The death of Mlle. Rhea marked the closing of a remarkably successful dramatic career. Rhea had thousands of admirers in this country and wherever she was announced to appear in anything seats sold at a premium. She was born in Belgium fifty-five years ago of French parents. Owing to the dissipation of her father's fortune she was early thrown upon her own resources and sought the dramatic profession as a means of gaining a living. After playing with marked success in the principal cities of the continent she came to London for a vacation in 1881. Becoming interested in English she determined to play in the language and in one month went on the stage with the part of Beatrice in "Much Ado

About Nothing." Shortly afterward she came to America and began a series of tours which brought her before the people of nearly every important city in the United States. She never afterward returned to Europe, except for brief visits.

WHERE FOUR EUROPEAN BOUNDARY LINES MEET.

To be on the frontier line of four countries would be a novel experience to most men. But it is the common and daily lot of the police and customs officers shown in the accompanying picture. A step in one direction and they are in Germany; another step takes them to the Netherlands; another to Belgium, and another to the neutral territory, independent since 1814, a self-governing country of about five square miles in extent, with no army and no import duties. The German policeman on horseback is flanked by the Dutchman, the Belgian constable and a German customs officer standing in that order, and the representative of the neutral territory has his throne on a rock which is the highest part of the Netherlands.

YALE'S NEW PRESIDENT.

Prof. Arthur T. Hadley, a Young and Gifted Writer and Student.

Prof. Arthur T. Hadley, who succeeds President Timothy Dwight as head of Yale University, is one of the most popular and capable professors of the college. He was graduated from Yale in 1876 and has been connected with the university ever since. He received the degree of M. A. from Yale in 1887. He was first a tutor, then instructor in political science and later a professor in this branch. He is now professor of political science and political economy.

PROF. ARTHUR T. HADLEY.

He was born in New Haven April 23, 1856, and is the son of a Yale professor. He has always lived in New Haven. He held the office of labor commissioner of Connecticut for two years and was one of the most fearless officers the State ever had, being especially popular with the workingmen. He is well known as a writer on railroads and as a statistician and student of the labor problem. He is one of the youngest of college presidents, but his brilliancy is admitted by all and good results are expected from his selection.

CHICAGO'S DAILY COW.

She Would Need to Be 127 Feet High and Give 131,000 Gallons of Milk.

If one cow was to give all the milk consumed daily in the city of Chicago she would need to be 127 feet tall and to give 131,000 gallons of milk each morning. Estimating that an average cow gives nine quarts of milk a day, it takes between 50,000 and 60,000 cows to supply the average demand. The milk comes into the city in 10,000 eight-gallon cans. To feed Chicago's daily cow takes each day about 3,000 tons of food exclusive of water. It is estimated that 17,000 people are directly engaged in gathering and distributing the milk supply. If there are 2,000,000 people in the city, each on the average consumes a little over half a pint of milk a day.

Flowers of Speech.

Picturesqueness of phrase is habitual to the Irish. The following "flowers of speech" are from Mr. Macdonagh's "Irish Life and Character":

An Irishman was asked in America how he was getting on. "Middlin'," he said, "middlin'; but faix, I'd rather be a gaslamp in Dublin nor President of the United States."

An Irish navvy was complaining of his foreman. "He'd not stir a finger himself to lift a red herring off the gridiron, but he'd ask you to shift the Rock of Gibraltar."

A woman with several men folks in her family has to go away from home occasionally to get to sit in a rocking chair.

WHY SOME HAIR IS CURLY.

Professor Thomson Demonstrates and Illustrates the Science of It.

Prof. Arthur Thomson recently exhibited a model to illustrate how natural curliness of hair is produced. According to the explanation three factors require consideration in the production of curly hair: (1) the hair shaft, (2) the hair muscle, and (3) the sebaceous gland. Straight hair is always circular on section, and is usually thicker than curly hair, which is ribbon-like and fine. In order that the muscle may act as an erector of the hair it is requisite that the shaft of the hair embedded in the skin should be sufficiently strong to resist any tendency to bend; unless this be so the lever-like action necessary to produce its erection is destroyed. When the hair is fine and ribbon-like, the shaft is not sufficiently stout to resist the strain of the muscle and naturally assumes a curve, the degree of curvature depending on the development of the muscle, the resistance of the hair, and the size of the sebaceous gland. The curve thus produced becomes permanent and affects the follicle in which the hair is developed, the softer cells at the root of the hair accommodate themselves to this curve, and becoming more horny as they advance towards the surface retain the form of the follicle; the cells on the concave side of the hair being more compressed than those on the convex side. In this way the hair retains the form of the follicle after it has escaped from it.

FOLDING CASKS AND BARRELS.

Knock-Down Device that Saves Room and Freight Charges.

The casks used in many industries are necessarily so well made that they are delivered with their contents on the express agreement that they are to be returned when empty, and the cost of the return shipment of these casks is a very serious expenditure. With the view of cutting this expense down to a minimum, Phillis Mayotte, of Escanaba, Mich., has invented a knock-down barrel, which will reduce this item to the very lowest notch. In his design the barrel heads and staves differ but slightly from the usual type. The hoops, however, are of metal chains instead of flat iron bands, and the end links of these are held together by means of tightening bolts, by which means the tension is at all times regulated. The chains are held securely in place and prevented from slipping by means of pins, which are driven into the staves. When it is desired to ship the empty casks the tightening bolts

CHIP OF THE OLD BLOCK.

Son of the "Grand Old Man" Becomes the Liberal Whip.

Admirers of the late William Ewart Gladstone, England's "grand old man," will be interested in knowing that his son, Hon. Herbert Gladstone, has been selected by the Liberal party to act as its whip in the House of Commons. The office is an arduous and important one, but Mr. Gladstone is well known for his tactful measures and has an extended parliamentary experience.

HERBERT GLADSTONE.

Mr. Gladstone was born in 1854 and received his education at Eton and University College, Oxford. Much of his political training he received from his father, and under the latter he served as under secretary of the home office. If there be anything in heredity, he may yet become the leader of the Liberals and premier of Great Britain.

High Speed.

Records for high speed in express train service have been made on French railroads lately, showing an average of 64.5 miles per hour, including stops. Special compound locomotives of the four cylinder type, designed for this service, are employed exclusively on these trains.

Czar a Humanitarian.

Czar Nicholas II. is said to have an aversion to the needless slaughter of animals of any kind. He has recently foresworn the pleasure of the chase, and the shooting of game, and the birds and beasts in the Imperial preserves live in undisturbed quiet.

Big Pile of Quinine.

The consumption of quinine by American soldiers suffering from our South ern fever or another during the past year is said to exceed 125,000,000 grains. There was hardly a man in the field who did not take the drug at one time or another.

The PEOPLE All Read It--THE DAILY SENTINEL.

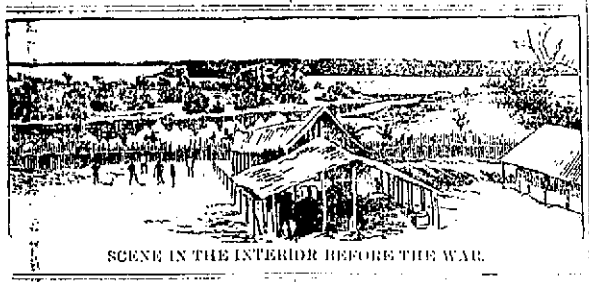
THE FUTURE OF CUBA

SHOULD PROSPER UNDER AMERICAN INFLUENCES.

The Fertile but Devastated Island Has Inexhaustible Resources that Need but Proper Management to Make Them Very Highly Profitable.

Havana correspondence:

The problem of Cuba's future is one that is now creating wide-spread interest, and it is a relief to turn from a picture of trials and sorrow to a consideration of the manifest prosperity that seems signally sure to visit the island under auspices that will bring to the front its inexhaustible resources. These need but proper management to make them highly profitable. Practically the veil is now dropped over the panorama of human woes in a past rendered inglorious by the inordinate greed of a greedy race, and it now requires only the peace purchased with the blood of the men who fell at El Caney, Santiago and on the hills of San Juan, together with the generous, free-spirited enterprise characteristic of the American people to make Cuba as Garden-like as in the primeval days.



SCENE IN THE INTERIOR BEFORE THE WAR.

Immediately after the peace protocol, President McKinley sent a special commissioner to Cuba to investigate social conditions there. This has led to a study and a grouping of the real economic situations, and the island's business salvation must come out of the workings, philanthropic and commercial, of those who are interested in redefining a people and their latent abilities. There are existing wrongs to redress, the destruction of war to repair—most practical and important, the elevation of the people in all walks of life. It is industrial Cuba that will now come into prominent view, and a comprehensive insight as to the future shows that the next decade is destined to see a nation ascend the stepping stones of industry, thrift and enlightenment. Political questions and military policy are now being considered only as temporary transition elements; it is the industrial movement that will conduce to settle all disturbing questions and improve conditions everywhere.

TYPICAL CUBAN HOME.

First of all, the country needs more laborers to work in the fields, and it further needs a feasible, definite plan of employing on a satisfactory basis the semi-slave laboring population now in Cuba. The conditions that have long prevailed on the plantations, and which are still to be met with, are not such as would induce European immigration. It is quite uncommon to find a laboring man who can read or write. Marriage is loosely regarded, and the Cuban and the Spaniard alike are inveterate gamblers. Field labor wages average about $17 per month, an overseer gets $85, his assistant $35. The hours of labor are long—from 4 in the morning till 8 in the night. Labor seeking employment in Cuba at present must face these conditions. Meager food and poor accommodations have so far warned away outside laborers, even the negro.

With advanced and advancing conditions, however, it is believed that unwittingly the American negro will be the pioneer of a new labor era in Cuba. It follows that what has ennobled labor in the United States will have its elevating influence among the laboring people of Cuba. Herding laborers in barracoons like so many cattle, sleeping them, feeding them, bathing them with less care than is shown to the cattle, ruling them with whip and spur, making no provision or allowing no time for their mental or moral improvement, it is small wonder that for two centuries the sugar planter's crying need has been sufficient and efficient labor. The better grade that new conditions will maintain clears the problem, and its workings must, in the minds of practical thinkers, enter an era of prosperity for Cuba for all classes, that will astonish and attract the world.

CUBAN FARM HOUSE.

"Americanization" must take a hand in the rehabilitation of this country, so long laid desolate, and, with stable government, the same is bound to develop itself. In fact, even now the initial suggestions of transformation are manifest. Americans propose to build great docks in Havana harbor, Americans are anxious to construct railroads and telegraph lines, trolley roads and electric light plants. One has only to visit the Juragua mines, near Santiago, to understand what American development means. Here, upon mountains which are literally of solid iron, an American company has created a small city, building its own railroad and ocean docks, and housing its employes in the neatest buildings of their kind upon the island. The supply of iron is practically inexhaustible. It can be mined, transported to seaboard, carried by ocean to Philadelphia and thence conveyed to Pittsburg, at a lower price than Michigan ore can be bought at the latter city. This is a problem in labor and transportation which is worth considerable study.

Up to date the Cuban railroad is a fearful and a wonderful thing, which American genius must shortly revolutionize. It is narrow gauge, with cars that would not make respectable fire wood, and engines of a past age. The tracks are loosely laid. There is a vast amount of business to be done in railway improvement and extension, and new immigration rules, put in force recently, favor the sturdy class of laborers. These prevent the ingress of any more Chinese, whose unsanitary conditions have been a menace in the past. The health bureau has already burned down infected quarters occupied by this class. Another undesirable element is that which have overrun the eastern part of the island—shiftless negroes from Jamaica, Hayti and San Domingo. Now accessions of this class are now quietly shipped back home, unless they can show the possession of $40 in ready money. Cuba does not want any more public charges—it needs the vim and muscle that built up the great West and developed the mines of Pennsylvania and Alabama.

Progressive work in Cuba for women will be somewhat circumscribed for a time to come. There are few avenues open on the island now in which the gentler sex can earn a livelihood. None are seen in the shops, none behind the counters, none in offices. The "new woman" is not in Cuba. Still, the training for hospital service and the organization of a public school system would give employment to many made destitute by the war. The value of the American trained nurse cannot be overestimated in influence and practical results. One end immediately desired is that these educate Cuban women for hospital service training the better class of women—the refined and intelligent and now practically homeless.

One can hardly realize that Cuba is but a hundred miles away from our Florida coast. This means very ready access. There is no color line; the average inhabitants are pliable, languorous, childlike persons, with traditions of idleness and ease that must be replaced with wakeful, healthy ambition. It is believed that the hum of industry will arouse these people and evoke co-operation. It will take much of the leaven of true energetic American enterprise to accomplish it, however. Gradually, as American goods come more and more into use, there is a perceptible appreciation of the utilities. Among the younger Cubans, too, a certain emulation, a comprehension that "things are on the turn" and a new era is due these elements urge occupation and ambition. Cuba to day has far more in visible national resources to encourage prospector and investor than did any of the Western States manifest fifty years ago. The development of these is bound in time to make the island rich. The new importance given to Cuba by the commercial attention bestowed by this country is likely to develop it into an ocean depot, a maritime clearing house, a point for the transaction and transference of business, the value of which cannot clearly be estimated. In these, the nucleus, the chrysalis slays of a people newly freed from the bonds of moral and social slavery, and just on the threshold of a bright, glorious future of ambition, and hence, industry. To "Industrial Cuba" alone the economist and the promoter alike look for the grander results yet in store for this "isle of the sea!"

STARVING CUBANS AT AN INTERIOR RELIEF STATION.

Folk Lore.

The research into popular beliefs is an absorbing and not a profitless study. Scarcely a day passes that we do not run across some piece of superstition that dates, in one form or another, from a far antiquity. Salt is spilled at table, and with jest with our neighbor over the prospect of a quarrel, half believing in the sign, though we may not know that the Romans did the same. A dog howls at night, and we recall the widespread belief that the howling of a dog foretells death, but forget that our early Aryan ancestors assigned to the dog the office of messenger from the world of spirits.

The every day custom is as old as humanity; the nursery jingle may be traced back to an origin in the world's babyhood; the familiar fairy tale which delights nineteenth century children is found in varying forms in all countries, pointing to a common origin in a remote age, embodying old Aryan myths, and giving us interesting information of the conceptions of our ancestors regarding nature and human life.—Lippincott's.

NO COWARD.

Anecdote of a Brave Soldier in the Santiago Campaign.

War anecdotes of men "not mentioned in the reports" are now coming in, as returned soldiers recall the incidents of battle, and many of these are full of genuine pathos. The Courier-Journal gives this story, told by a regular army officer:

In the two days of real fighting before Santiago men of the different regiments became mixed, and for a time were lost to their comrades. This condition gave rise to the report that a certain few men had shown the "white feather."

One of the officers of Gen. Lawton's division observed among his men a colored trooper of the Tenth cavalry. On being questioned, the man explained that he had lost his command, and asked to be allowed to remain where he was.

He stayed and did fine service that day. None of his white comrades were able to outdo him in deeds of bravery. He twice risked his life in assisting wounded men to places of safety, but each time escaped uninjured.

That night he asked the officer whom he had met earlier in the day to give him a note to his own commander, accounting for his absence, and certifying to his good conduct. This was willingly done, and with the precious paper clasped tightly in his hand, under cover of darkness he started in search of his own command.

The next morning at dawn, Lieut. L. started on a search for wounded men of his division, and happened to stumble over a prostrate body. He immediately recognized the brave cavalryman of the day before, who was fast losing consciousness.

After struggling a moment for strength to speak, the prostrate man held up his little slip of paper, and said, "Give it to Captain A. of L troop, if you can find him, and tell him Williams wasn't a coward."

Then, with a look of satisfaction in his eyes, his hand dropped to his side, and he was dead.

JOHN BAKER'S MISFORTUNE.

John Baker, a shop hand at the Bass works, had his left foot badly bruised by a heavy wooden skid falling upon it Saturday afternoon. Fortunately none of the bones were broken. Several months ago Mr. Baker had the bones of his right instep broken by a similar accident and for five or six weeks was unable to work. He and his wife expected to go to Decatur, Ind., yesterday to spend a week or two with friends, but the accident interferred with their plans.

EXCURSION FROM MICHIGAN.

The largest excursion of the season, with one exception, was that which occurred on the Lake Shore yesterday. It was the first of a series of similar events that are to take place this summer, under the direction of District Passenger Agent P. C. Liggett and Excursion Manager W. W. Howard. Yesterday's excursion party numbered 503. It started from Jackson, Mich., and picked up excursionists at all the intermediate points. All went to Robison park, where they enjoyed the many attractive features of that very popular resort. The visitors were particularly interested in the "zoo" and in the stage performance, which are becoming better and better each week. The next excursion from Jackson and intermediate points will occur on July 16 and the next on July 30. These events will be better advertised than was the one of yesterday and it is expected that each excursion will number at least 1,500 people. The park management will endeavor to have some specially attractive features for the visitors on these occasions.

SHOPMEN'S FIELD DAY.

The Pennsylvania Athletic association will have "field day" exercises at Centlivre park next Saturday. The list of sports will not be ready for publication until tomorrow, but it is understood an attractive program will be presented, included being two or three open events. The City band has been engaged for the occasion, and provisions have been made for refreshments on the grounds. Entries will close Friday evening. A. C. Hobrock is the manager and W. T. Marks the secretry of the association.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

The clerks in the motive power and the master mechanic departments of the Pittsburg played ball Saturday at Centlivre park, the main features of which were the umpiring of Ed. Dillon, the rooting of the friends of the two clubs and the incomprehensibility of the score keeper's records. As a result nobody knows who won, though both parties claim victory. The Sentinel reporter learned from the motive power men that the score was 26 to 16 in their favor. The shop clerks say they won by a score of 17 to 15. One of them admitted, however, that there were other tallies made, but it was at the close of the ninth inning, when their club had abandoned the diamond and were regaling themselves at the lemonade lunch counter. The game will probably be called a tie and settled at some future time. What it lacked in scientific points it made up in "fun," for never was a game more enjoyed by spectators and players.

NEW ELECTRIC RAILWAYS.

A number of capitalists have become interested in an enterprise which, if carried out as projected, will make Indianapolis the center of a network of electric railways tapping every county in the central part of the state and touching the majority of the towns and villages in them. The men back of the scheme can command millions of dollars and they are going into it, not as a speculation with a view of selling to others, but as a permanent and legitimate business from which they expect to derive a good dividend. The proposed lines will handle passengers and freight and will make a specialty of handling farm products and such business as country towns and villages usually furnish. Some of the largest of the cities to be reached by these lines are Franklin, in Johnson county, on the south; Martinsville, Morgan county, on the southwest; Danville, in Hendricks county, on the west; Lebanon, Boone county, on the northwest; Noblesville, in Hamilton county, and Anderson, in Madison county, on the northeast; Greenfield, Hancock county, on the east, and Shelbyville, in Shelby county, on the southeast. All of these cities are county seats and are located in the most populous and thriving part of the state. The projectors have been quietly at work for some months and have already secured much of the right-of-way and in one instance a $38,000 subsidy. On some of the lines one-half of the public highway has been set apart by the county commissioners for the company's use. In no county has there been any trouble in securing right-of-way, the farmers welcoming the enterprise with alacrity, in many cases not only donating the right-of-way, but also land for switches wherever needed. All the lines will be easy of construction, because of the level country and few streams through which they pass. It is expected that some of the roads will be in operation by next winter.

LUTHERAN EXCURSION.

The German Lutheran's excursion to the orphans' home at Indianapolis yesterday was a pleasant affair, though the crowd in attendance was not as large as upon some former occasions. It was not a small party, however, there being 354 tickets sold here. No accidents nor unpleasant incidents occurred to mar the pleasure of the excursion.

AN OLD AGENT RETIRES.

Yesterday's Cincinnati Enquirer contained the following dispatch from Bucyrus, Ohio: "A. J. Flaharty, who has been the local agent of the Pennsylvania company in this city for twenty years, has been notified by the company that he will be succeeded by W. W. Crooks, of Ada, on July 1. Mr. Flaharty has been in the employ of the company for over thirty-five years, and retires with a clean record. It is understood that numerous other changes will be made along the Fort Wayne division."

MOULDER BURNED.

A painful mishap occurred in the Bass foundry at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the unfortunate one being David F. Valentine, a moulder, who resides at 372 East Wayne street. While he was assisting in handling a ladle of molten iron, he slipped and the hot metal splashed over him, burning his left hand and leg. Mr. Valentine was removed to his home, where he was attended by Dr. M. Harrod, who pronounced the wounds painful, though not serious. Mr. Valentine has been unfortunate during his term of service in the Bass works. He has been hurt several times, and was once unable, on account of injuries, to work for several weeks.

FOOT BRUISED.

W. Newman, of the Wabash shops, let a hoisting jack fall upon one of his feet yesterday, bruising the member badly, but not breaking any of the bones. He will probably go to the hospital at Peru.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

C. D. Law is better today and was able to sit up a portion of the morning.

The Wabash took 142 people to Toledo yesterday and eight to Put-in-Bay.

The electric works are preparing to send a twenty-horse power motor to Minneapolis.

J. C. Wood, a machinist, is now working in the Wabash shops, commencing this morning.

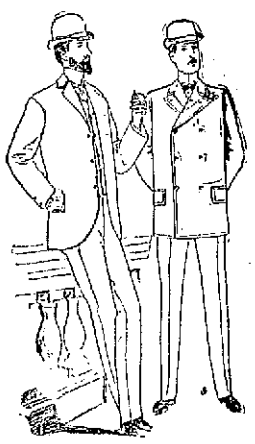
So Potent is Truth and So Apparent is Merit,



That Sam, Pete & Max seldom find so-called "bargain table" methods necessary in order to move their immense stocks. So well posted and so intelligent is the buying public of to-day that a plain statement of existing facts is all that is necessary in order to do business with it. Sam Pete & Max not only keep step with the progress of events, but keep faith with every one of their customers, and they all know it. More goods here to select from than anywhere else. Prices lower here than anywhere else. These are a few of the reasons—there are others—why more people come here than go anywhere else.

Men's Suits. The price you pay for a suit is not always a guide as to quality. Sam, Pete & Max will sell you for a Suit which cannot be duplicated at same price anywhere else in this city. Therefore, should you be so foolish as to go somewhere else and pay their price for a suit, which, they would assure you, was as good as Sam, Pete & Max's, you would be making a grave mistake.
